The Sports Information Office would like to express its appreciation to Barnes, photo editor of the 1979 Yackety Yack, for his help in securing pictures.

Memo To The Media

Working press credentials for Carolina home games can be obtained by contacting Rick Brewer in the Sports Information Office. Brewer's mailing address is P.O. Box 2126, Chapel Hill, N.C. 27514.

Requests are screened with care to insure a working pressbox. Children, spouses and pets are not allowed in compliance with the working code of the Football Writers Association of America.

There are no Western Union facilities in the pressbox. The Athletic Department does furnish a number of telephones for writers to use in moving their copy. The Carolina Sports Information Office has one telecopier which will be available for sending copy. An operator's fee of $10 per game will be charged for its use. This fee will cover the cost of a student assistant staying late to send copy.

It is strongly suggested, however, that if at all possible, newsmen covering games in Kenan Stadium bring their own telecopiers. This will allow all copy to be moved more quickly and will alleviate any deadline problems.

Programs, flip cards and statistics will be provided before each game. A play-by-play will be distributed at the conclusion of each quarter. Halftime statistics will also be available. Complete team and individual statistics, a scoring summary and coaches' quotes will be provided after the game.

Lunch will be served on the third level of the pressbox before each game and at halftime. Soft drinks and coffee are available on the second level (writers' area) throughout the game.

Over 60 stations in three states will once again carry the Tar Heel Football Network. The Network is operated by Village Broadcasting of Chapel Hill with Jim Heavner as the producer. Woody Durham, the news and sports director at WRDU-TV, will handle the play-by-play with Heavner and Bob Holliday of WCHL Radio adding color commentary.

The Dick Crum Show will be televised across the state of North Carolina each Sunday. Durham serves as emcee for this program.

Each Tuesday during the season Crum will be available to the media at a press luncheon. Television and radio tapes can be done at 11:30 a.m. with the luncheon starting at noon in Kenan Fieldhouse.

1979 Prospectus

Despite the loss of 11 starters to graduation, the North Carolina Tar Heels are hopeful they will field an improved football team in 1979.

Carolina, which had been to bowl games six of the previous eight seasons, slumped to a 5-6 record last fall in Dick Crum's first year as head coach. The problem of adjusting to a new coaching staff and an assortment of injuries to key players were the big factors in that losing mark.

However, the coaches and players have now been through a complete season together and things should be much smoother this fall. The fact that most of the transitional problems are over is one of the major reasons for the guarded optimism in the Carolina camp.

If the Tar Heels stay healthy and can eliminate the mistakes that plagued them last year, Carolina should be a better football team this season.

"Our goal is to be a fundamentally sound team," says Crum. "We spent a lot of time on the basics in spring practice.

"Last year we gave up over 1,200 yards on defense because of missed tackles and penalties. We've got to cut those out as well as the offensive errors that killed drives."

Gone from that 1978 team are 19 lettermen, including seven defensive starters and four regulars on offense. Two of those players, tight end Bob Loomis and offensive guard Mike Salzano, were All-Atlantic Coast Conference selections last fall. Loomis was Carolina's leading receiver with 31 catches, seven of them for touchdowns, That tied the school single-season record set 30 years ago by Art Weiner. Salzano was a third-team All-America.

However, there is a good nucleus of returning players. That group is led by strong safety Ricky Barden, tailback Amos Lawrence, fullback Doug Paschal, quarterback Matt Kupec, offensive guard Ron Wooten, offensive tackle Steve Junkmann, defensive tackle Donnell Thompson and a pair of standout linebackers, Buddy Curry and Darrell Nicholson.

With seven starters back, the offense could be very potent. The backfield certainly has explosive potential.

In two years Lawrence has run for 2,254 yards. Only two players in collegiate history, Ron Po James and Tony Dorsett, have ever entered their junior seasons with more rushing yardage.

After leading the ACC in rushing as a freshman, the 5-10, 179-pound Lawrence was slowed by injuries early last fall. He was outstanding down the stretch, however, finishing with over 1,000 yards for the second straight year.

If Amos can stay healthy, he will be a leading All-America candidate. His acceleration and quickness make him a game-breaking player at tailback.

Paschal, a 6-2, 214-pound senior, also ranks as a top all-star candidate. He's everything a coach would want in a player and more. He gives Carolina great flexibility at fullback because he runs like a tailback and catches like a wide receiver. Plus, he's an intense leader and a fierce competitor.

Kupec had some problems early last fall and lost his starting job to Chuck Sharpe for a while. However, he played well in the latter part of the year and cemented his hold on the starting spot with a brilliant spring.

Matt, a 6-1, 194-pound senior, is beginning his fourth year as a starter. He completed 58.7 per cent of his passes a year ago. He currently ranks third on Carolina's all-time completion list and should set a new career record early this season.

Sharpe, a sophomore, gives the Tar Heels an excellent number two man at quarterback. Walter Sturdivant, a versatile junior, is capable of playing behind either Lawrence or Paschal. If junior fullback Billy Johnson can recover from a knee injury suffered last season, it would be an added boost to the offense.

Flanker Jeff Grey, a 6-1, 182-pound junior, is the only returning starter at a receiver position. Gone are Loomis and split end Jim Rouse. Veterans Wayne Tucker and Phil Farris and sophomore Jon Richardson are battling for Rouse's spot. Junior Kenny Rogers and sophomore Shelton Robinson are the top contenders at tight end.

In the offensive interior, replacements must be found for Salzano and tackle Bob Hukill. The three returning starters there are solid performers.

Wooten, a 6-4, 254-pound junior, played very well in the closing games last fall. He has the ability to follow in the footsteps of Ron Rusnak and Ken Huff, consensus All-America guards at Carolina in the 1970's.

Junkmann is also a strong contender for all-star honors. The 6-3, 234-pound senior is an excellent competitor. He teams with Wooten to form a fine blocking combination on the left side of the line.

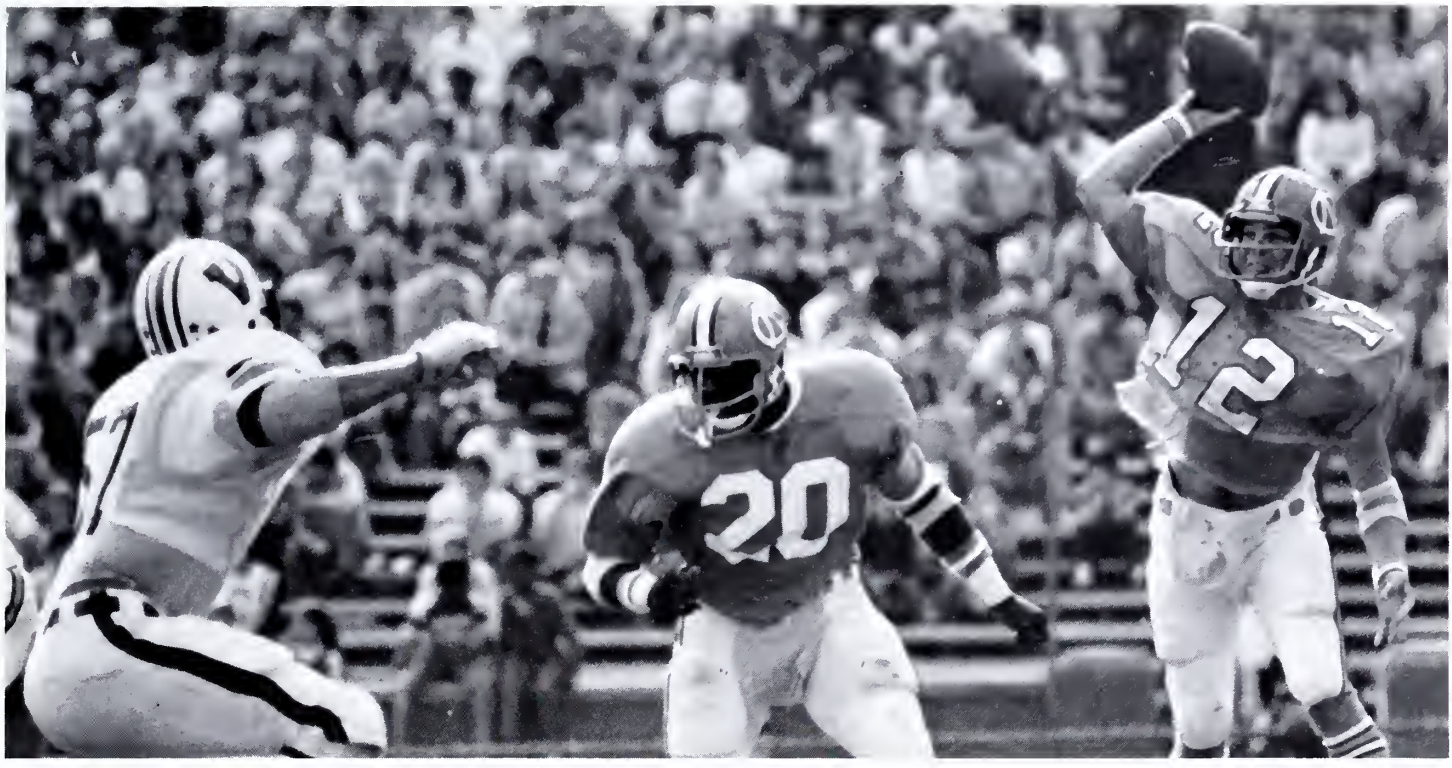
Rick Donnalley, a 6-2, 241-pound junior, returns as the center. Crum rates him a superb lineman. He also has the highest grade point average of any Tar Heel player.

Senior Carl Hackley, junior Jimmy Roberson, junior Mark Sugg and sophomore Mike Marr will fight for the other two starting line jobs this fall. Hackley and Sugg ended the spring as the leaders there.

Carolina will again mainly operate from the I-formation. However, the Tar Heels may also run some plays with split backs. Despite a slow start last fall, Carolina still had 3,755 yards in total offense, the second highest mark in the ACC and the most in Chapel Hill since 1974. Still, there is a lot of room for improvement.

The Tar Heels must also show improvement defensively. There is good talent on defense, but much of it is young and inexperienced. Gone are seven starters — outside linebackers T. K. McDaniels and Ken Sheets, tackle Bunn Rhames, nose guard Dave Simmons and backs Bobby Cale, Bernie Menapace and Francis Winters. However, the four starters who are back are all quality players.

In Barden, Carolina has one of the premier defensive backs in America. He had a brilliant junior season at cornerback last fall, making the All-ACC team. He was shifted to strong safety at the conclusion of spring practice.



Barden, 5-9 and 178 pounds, should have no problems making that switch. He is a great all-around athlete, a player who makes things happen when he's on the field.

Tyress Bratton is the only other player who has taken a firm grip on a starting spot in the secondary. The 6-0, 183-pound junior is expected to open the season at one cornerback. Either junior David Singleton or sophomore Alan Burrus will start at the other.

Charlie Hampton ended the spring as the number one free safety, but should be pushed for that job by Steve Streater this fall. Streater missed the spring drills while playing baseball. Other top candidates in the secondary are Bill Jackson, Jay Faulkner and Lee Shaffer.

Curry and Nicholson give Carolina one of the best linebacking tandems in the South. Curry, a 6-3, 221-pound senior, has led the Tar Heels in tackles for the last two years. He was All-ACC as a sophomore, but did not make the team last year. However, he still played very well although being slowed at times by leg injuries.

Nicholson, a 6-2, 223-pound sophomore, was the ACC Rookie of the Year last fall. He was second only to Curry in tackles. This young man is a future superstar. Another sophomore who shows good promise at linebacker is Kris Keeney.

The only returning starter in the defensive front five, Thompson is certainly a key performer for the Tar Heels. He has the size (6-4, 260 pounds), quickness and agility to be a truly great tackle. He made good progress near the end of the 1978 season and continued to improve in the spring.

The other tackle should be John Brugos, a 6-2, 227-pound junior; Bruce Porcher, a 6-4, 240-pound sophomore; or Harry Stanback, a 6-5, 241-pound junior.

Brugos played a great deal last season, but needs to be a little bigger and stronger. Porcher played mainly on the junior varisty and thus lacks experience. Stanback got some playing time last fall, but missed the spring work while recovering from a knee injury.

Paul Davis, shifted from outside linebacker, and veteran Bob Duncan are the best bets at nose guard. Davis had an impressive spring, while Duncan has been a solid backup for two years.

Sophomore Calvin Daniels and junior Lawrence Taylor seem set at the outside linebackers. Taylor has the athletic ability to play anywhere in the front seven. He could be a big-play man for the Tar Heels. Daniels also has good physical tools and just lacks experience.

If Rick Downs can bounce back from a broken ankle he suffered last spring, he will also get plenty of playing time at outside linebacker. Another player to watch at this position is sophomore Jeff Pierce, a big surprise in the spring.

Depth is a major problem throughout the defense. Crum is hoping some of his younger players can develop quickly and provide the necessary backup help.

Jeff Hayes, who had an inconsistent freshman year, will again handle the place-kicking. Crum feels that with a year of experience, he will be a much better kicker. Streater, who had a 40.7 average last fall, will be the punter.

Crum is counting on good leadership from his senior class. He should get that from players like Paschal, Curry, Kupec, Barden and Junkmann.

If he does and if the Tar Heels can avoid another rash of injuries, Carolina could again be a contender in the ACC championship race.

Goal Line Analysis

RECEIVERS

Gone are All-ACC tight end Bob Loomis and split end Jim Rouse, leaving flanker Jeff Grey as the only returning starter. Grey came on at mid-season last year to have a fine sophomore season, making 20 catches. He will be solid at one of the wide receiver posts. The race for the other spot is wide open. Veterans Wayne Tucker and Phil Farris are the leaders for that job. Tucker has great natural ability, but has been hampered by injuries throughout his career. Farris is also a fine all-around athlete who has played in the offensive and defensive backfields in earlier years. Sophomore Jon Richardson, who did a good job on the junior varsity last fall, also is in the picture at the two wide-outs. Others at these positions are P. J. Gay, Mike McCormick and John Miller. Gay played some last year, but missed spring practice while participating in baseball. He will be behind the others when fall workouts begin. Sophomore Shelton Robinson and junior Kenny Rogers are the top tight end candidates. Robinson had an impressive spring. He's a fine blocker, but needs to improve his pass-catching. Rogers has good potential, but lacks consistency. Rick Vanhoy, a fine receiver, should also play at this spot with Mike Chatham another possibility.

INTERIOR LINE

Guard Ron Wooten, tackle Steve Junkmann and center Rick Donnalley give the Tar Heels three outstanding blockers up front. However, replacements must be found for guard Mike Salzano and tackle Bob Hukill. The three returning starters have all-star capabilities. Wooten played extremely well in the last half of the 1978 season and should be another in a long line of standout guards at Carolina. He will eventually contend for All-America honors, perhaps as soon as this fall. Junkmann is a tremendous competitor. He's smart, quick and hard-nosed. He will definitely challenge for a spot on the all-conference team. Donnalley is one of the strongest players on the Tar Heel team. He improved a great deal in the spring. Senior Carl Hackley ended spring practice as the starter at the other tackle with junior Mark Sugg the leader at guard. Junior Jimmy Roberson and sophomore Mike Marr will press for those jobs in the fall. Depth must be provided by Rolo Lassiter, David Drechsler, Bob Bamum, Bill Crawford, Kevin Nolan, Steve Lancaster, Donald Lucas, Bill Lippencott and Keith James.

THE BACKFIELD

Carolina's big offensive weapon is junior tailback Amos Lawrence, a dynamic runner with game-breaking ability. Lawrence has gained over 1,000 yards in each of his first two seasons and is a leading All-America candidate. He doesn't have great size, but he makes up for that with quickness, speed and explosive acceleration. His potential is unlimited. He teams with senior fullback Doug Paschal to give the Tar Heels a great running combination. While Amos is best known for running by people, Paschal runs over them. He's an intense leader and a tough, hard-hitting competitor. In addition to being a good runner, Doug is also a fine receiver. He's one of the best all-around players in this part of the country. Junior Walter Sturdivant, who did a good job in the spring, has the versatility to play behind either Lawrence or Paschal. If junior fullback Billy Johnson can recover from a knee injury he suffered last season, he could also get some playing time. Senior Matt Kupec is set to begin his fourth year as a starter at quarterback. He had a fine spring and clearly established himself as the number one man at this spot. He may be on the verge of his finest season. Sophomore Chuck Sharpe, who played a great deal last fall, is a solid backup. Additional depth in the backfield could come from some of Carolina's incoming freshmen.

DEFENSE

THE LINE

Inexperience and depth are major problems here. There is good talent along the defensive front, but it is generally untested. The only returning starter, tackle Donnell Thompson, is a good one. More importantly, he's capable of getting better. He has great ability. If he plays like the Carolina coaches think he will, he'll be one of the premier linemen in the ACC. Junior John Brugos, sophomore Bruce Porcher and junior Harry Stanback are expected to battle for the other tackle spot vacated by Bunn Rhames. Paul Davis, who was shifted from outside linebacker, and Bob Duncan are the top prospects at Dave Simmons' nose guard position. Davis had an impressive spring and Duncan has done a good job as a backup for two years. Replacing Ken Sheets and T. K. McDaniels at outside linebacker will be Lawrence Taylor and Calvin Daniels. Both have good athletic ability. Taylor played inside linebacker and nose guard last year. Daniels saw only limited action. Both could be big play men in the Tar Heel defense. Rick Downs, who broke an ankle in the spring, should also play a great deal at this spot.

LINEBACKERS

In Buddy Curry and Darrell Nicholson, Carolina has one of the best linebacking combinations in the South. They both have speed, strength and a nose for the football. Curry was an All-ACC selection as a sophomore. Although he missed the all-conference team last year, he still played very well despite some leg injuries. He's a leader on and off the field. Nicholson had a sensational freshman season and was the ACC Rookie of the Year. He has great talent. Like Curry, he has the ability to be one of Carolina's all-time greats at linebacker. These two men combined for 282 tackles last year. Depth is the big problem here. Sophomore Kris Keeney and senior Steve Taylor ended the spring as the chief backups. Keeney got some experience last fall on the specialty teams where he did a good job. Taylor is a team man all the way. He even played in the front five last year when the Tar Heels were ripped with injuries. He's smart and a good competitor.

THE SECONDARY

Gone are cornerback Bobby Cale, free safety Bernie Menapace and strong safety Francis Winters. As in the defensive front, there are some talented young players ready to step in as starters, but they lack experience. The one returning starter in the secondary is Ricky Barden, one of the best defenders in college football. He is a top All-America candidate in his senior season. Barden, an All-ACC cornerback last year, has been switched to strong safety for 1979 in a move that figures to strengthen the secondary a great deal. Now instead of having the best cornerback in the ACC, Carolina simply has one of the best safeties in college football. Sophomore Charlie Hampton ended the spring as the starter at free safety, but will be challenged for that job by junior Steve Streater in the fall. Streater missed spring practice while playing baseball. Junior Tyress Bratton will open at one cornerback with junior David Singleton or soph Alan Burrus at the other. Bill Jackson, Jay Faulkner and Lee Shaffer should provide reserve help.

Coach's Quotes — Crum Looks at '79

SPRING PRACTICE

"I think we got a lot more accomplished this spring than we did last year. The coaches knew the players better and had some idea what to expect from them performance-wise."

THE 1979 SEASON

"We got a lot of good fundamental work done in the spring. Fundamental mistakes killed us last year. I think we were also able to bring some of our younger people along in a way that they can give us some depth. A lot of them will hopefully grow and mature over the summer.

"Another encouraging thing about the upcoming season is our players understand us better. They will not have to adjust to a lot of changes this year like they did last season. The changes have been made and now they can concentrate on improving as athletes."

THE SCHEDULE

"Again, we have four tough games to start the year. I know the people at South Carolina feel this will be the best team they have had in a while. Pittsburgh will again be very good. Army is going to throw the ball a lot and Cincinnati will be a very physical team. Then we get into conference play and there is not an easy one there."

AMOS LAWRENCE

"Amos had a very good spring. I think he's beginning to handle physical punishment better and is learning to play with pain. To be a good tailback you have to do that.

"He certainly has the ability to be one of the great players in the country."

THE QUARTERBACK SITUATION

"We'll go into the fall with Kupec the starter and Sharpe number two. Matt had a fine spring and won the job. But, that doesn't mean Chuck won't play. If we have a game where Matt is having some problems moving the team, we'll give him a breather and see what Chuck can do."

RICKY BARDEN

"He's one of our very best senior leaders and a great player. He's simply an excellent all-around athlete, a guy who can make a lot of things happen on the football field. That's why we've moved him to strong safety — to get him in on more of the action."

THE INCOMING FRESHMEN

"I think this is a good class, one with some very fine athletes. We have some guys who are going to grow and get bigger. All of them move and run well. We're pleased with the group."

CONCERNS

"My major concern is our depth. An early injury could hurt us a great deal. We're not in a position where we can reach down and get some immediate help from a backup. However, I think we have the potential to develop that kind of depth if we can bring the kids along and not have to play them too quickly."

DOUG PASCHAL

"He will be an excellent leader and an example for our younger players. He gives 100 per cent all the time.

"He's made great strides since we've been here. He was good before, but he's just worked hard to get even better. I honestly believe he's on the rise as a player.

"He's a good, tough competitor who can play with pain. He's a team man who will do anything you ask. Believe me, he's one of the very best players in the ACC."

BUDDY CURRY

"He's another good leader. Plus, he's bigger, stronger and faster than last year. He should be one of the most outstanding linebackers in this part of the country."

THE OFFENSE

"I think our offense is still building. A year ago we were second in the ACC in total offense and there wasn't a player or coach satisfied with the way we played. We will be better offensively this year."

THE DEFENSE

"Depth is the problem on defense. If we can stay healthy we'll be okay because I believe we have some good young players on defense. The kids are more used to our defensive thinking and that is another asset."

REASONS FOR OPTIMISM

"The biggest difference between last year and this year is that we have now been with these guys for two springs and one complete season. We realistically know what we can expect of them. We know them better and what their reactions mean.

'The players know what we as a staff want and what our goals for them are. They know we want them to do well on the football field, but that we are also vitally concerned with their academics. We want them to enjoy football, but to mainly use it as a vehicle to get the education they are going to need in the future.

"I think this better understanding of each other is the best thing we've got going for us as we start a new season."

Noting The Tar Heels

The last time:

Carolina returned a kickoff for a touchdown was Delbert Powell's 98-yard return at Wake Forest in 1976.

Carolina returned a punt for a touchdown was Mel Collins' 42-yard return at Wake Forest in 1974.

Carolina returned an interception for a touchdown was Buddy Curry's 31-yard return at N.C. State in 1977.

Carolina returned a fumble for a touchdown was Dave Simmons' 38-yard return at Wake Forest last season.

Carolina shutout an opponent was a 17-0 victory over South Carolina in 1977.

An opponent returned a kickoff for a touchdown was in 1971 when Coleman Dupree of Tulane had a 100-yard return in Kenan Stadium.

An opponent returned a punt for a touchdown was in 1975 when John Zeglinski of Wake Forest had a 45-yard return at Kenan Stadium.

An opponent returned an interception for a touchdown was last year when Jeff Nixon of Richmond had a 59-yard return at City Stadium.

An opponent returned a fumble for a touchdown was in 1968 when Jack Whitley of N.C. State returned one 46 yards in Kenan Stadium.

Carolina was shutout was a 21-0 loss to Kentucky in the 1976 Peach Bowl.

* * * * *

Five Carolina football jersies — numbers 22, 46, 50, 59 and 99 — have been retired over the years in honor of the men who wore them.

The number 22 was known almost as well as the athlete who wore it — Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice. One of college football's all-time superstars, Justice was an All-America halfback at Carolina from 1946 to 1949. In fact, those years generally are known as simply "The Justice Era" in Chapel Hill.

Carl Snavely, Justice's coach, was instrumental in getting number 46 retired. That belonged to Cotton Sutherland, an outstanding back who was killed in an automobile crash while a Carolina student.

Number 50 was Art Weiner, an All-America end in the late Forties. In 1949 Art caught a school-record 52 passes. He was also a great defensive player.

Another end, Andy Bershak, wore 59. A defensive standout, he was an All-America selection in 1939.

Carolina's first All-America, George Barclay, had the number 99. He was a star guard and earned All-America honors in 1934.

* * * * *

After two years Amos Lawrence has gained 2,254 yards rushing. Only two players in college football history have ever entered their junior seasons with more rushing yardage — Tony Dorsett of Pittsburgh and Ron Po James of New Mexico State.

Lawrence is the first player in Atlantic Coast Conference history to gain over 1,000 yards as both a freshman and a sophomore. His two-year total is over 200 yards more than any other rising junior to play in the ACC.

After being slowed early last fall by injuries, Lawrence came on to run for over 100 yards in five of his last six starts. His only miss was a 92-yard performance at Clemson.

His 131-yard rushing performance against Virginia last year prompted Cavalier Coach Dick Bestwick to say:

"Amos Lawrence is the best runningback I have ever seen. He's better than Dorsett, better than anyone. I watched the films and saw him do things with the football I've never seen anyone do and I saw them today.

"He's the best, just super."

When Amos Lawrence ran for 131 yards and Chuck Sharpe gained 100 against Virginia last year, it marked the first time since 1974 that two Tar Heel players had rushed for 100 yards in the same game.

James "Boom Boom" Betterson had 134 and Mike Voight added 102 in the 1974 season opener against Ohio University.

By getting 100 yards against the Cavaliers, Sharpe became the first Carolina quarterback to run for 100 in a game since Ricky Lanier had 174 against VMI in 1969. One of Sharpe's runs against Virginia was for 56 yards, the longest of the Tar Heel season.

When Chuck Sharpe accumulated 190 yards in total offense against Wake Forest last year, it equalled the fourth best performance by a freshman in Carolina history.

Amos Lawrence had 286 against Virginia and 216 against N.C. State in 1977. Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice had 221 against Duke in 1946 and 190 against Miami the same season.

Carolina's 3,755 yards in total offense last year was the most by a Tar Heel team since the 1974 squad had a school-record 4,691.

Carolina was second in the ACC in total offense, the highest finish by the Tar Heels since they led the league in 1974.

* * * * *

Carolina has played 753 games against teams that are now classified as major colleges. That is the most of any school in the country. Georgia Tech is second with 700 major opponents, while Georgia is third with 693.

Dick Crum enters the 1979 season with a career won-loss record of 39-16-1. That winning percentage of .705 is the 13th highest of any active coach in the nation. That percentage is the highest of any coach in the ACC.

Every Carolina home game was a sellout last year before the season even began. The University sold out of season tickets for the first time in school history.

Carolina's cheerleaders were voted the second best in the nation last year in a contest sponsored by the International Cheerleading Foundation. The Tar Heels won the national competition two years ago.

The University

"The Southern Part of Heaven."

The late artist William Meade Prince described Chapel Hill and the University of North Carolina that way several years ago.

Like many things in this small, yet cosmopolitan village, the magic, romance and beauty that fascinated Prince remain unchanged today.

Time Magazine has called Chapel Hill "one of the 20 most enjoyable places to live in the United States."

The school itself is the oldest state university in the nation, first admitting students in 1795 while George Washington was President. However, it was not until after Reconstruction that Carolina began making the rapid progress that has lifted it to the top of southern education.

There are currently 14 schools at Carolina and more than 70 departments and other academic-affiliated divisions and institutes.

Strong in both the humanities and the sciences, the University also has a School of Business Administration of special potency, commensurate with the growing industrial might of the mid-South.

Carolina is one of six universities in the nation with a full range of health professional schools, including medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, nursing and public health. The center of this Division of Health Affairs is North Carolina Memorial Hospital.

Carolina is one of the largest and top-ranking universities in the nation. A recent rating of graduate schools by the American Council on Education put 12 UNC graduate departments in the highest category and 12 in the second highest. This made Carolina the leader of all universities, public or private, in the Southeast.

Alan Carter of the ACE describes Carolina as "the leading southern university, a liberal voice in the region."

In annual choices made by southern graduate scholars in the Rockefeller grants, more select graduate study at Chapel Hill than any other place.

The University is continuing to grow as it strives to keep pace with the changing world of today. Growth has been especially tremendous in the last 20 years. Those two decades have seen the establishment of the School of Journalism, the School of Business Administration, the Carolina Population Center, the WUNC-TV educational television station, the Ackland Art Center and a new computer system.

In that same time buildings have multiplied; student enrollment has reached nearly 20,000; the faculty has grown to over 1,200; new courses have been added to the curriculum and old ones revised; adult education courses have expanded; and scholarship and development programs have grown.

OLD WELL

Here are some other facts of interest about one of America's great universities.

— Carolina's Morehead Planetarium was the first planetarium on a university campus in the world. It features special programs and exhibits and is a training base for U.S. astronauts. The unique Planetarium Sundial allows one to determine the correct time anywhere in the world.

— James K. Polk, an 1818 graduate, became the 11th President of the United States.

— The Institute of Government on campus is a training center for city, county and state officials and employees. It is also involved in research and consultations for state and local governments.

— The University's television network feeds programs into North Carolina public schools.

— In a traditional program of student self-government, undergraduates have their own legislature, system of honor courts and student publications. These include a daily newspaper, "The Daily Tar Heel."

But perhaps the most outstanding feature of the University is the gentle way the new has been blended with the old to form one of the most beautiful campuses in the world.

Ivy-covered buildings and tree-lined walkways surround spacious, grassy greens where students lounge between classes. Tall pines cover south campus where modern buildings are under construction.

In direct contrast are Gerard Hall, built in 1837, and Old East, the oldest state university building in the nation. The cornerstone to Old East was laid in 1793 and the dorm was dedicated as a national shrine in 1966.

Other famous and beautiful spots around campus are the Old Well, the Davie Poplar, the Carolina Inn, the botanical gardens and Gimghoul Castle.

Despite the change and growth, the basic beauty of this area remains the same. It still truly is "the Southern Part of Heaven."

Chancellor Ferebee Taylor

It goes without saying that the chief administrator of one of America's outstanding universities is a very busy man. His responsibilities go far beyond the normal nine to five routine, including oversight of the entire academic and financial welfare of the university.

The chancellor of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Nelson Ferebee Taylor, is no exception. As chancellor of one of the country's leading research institutions and the South's finest university, his duties are not intended for the faint of heart or the lethargic.

Despite the burdens of his position, Chancellor Taylor finds time to be Carolina's number one athletic fan. He is a frequent visitor to Tar Heel locker rooms, congratulating coaches and players alike for outstanding efforts, win or lose.

The Chancellor's strong interest in athletics at Carolina is natural. It stems not merely from the fact that the Tar Heel intercollegiate athletic program is one of the most successful in the nation. It goes beyond that. Carolina's respected national reputation in teaching and research is matched only by the university community's avid interest in athletics, from both participants' and spectators' viewpoints.

Kenan professors regularly interrupt their classes to talk about that week's football or basketball contest. The vast majority of the 20,000 students at the University participate in the intercollegiate or the extensive intramural program. At Carolina, academics and athletics go hand-in-hand in a manner few other universities can emulate.

So, the thought of seeing Chancellor Taylor in Kenan Stadium on a hot August afternoon watching pre-season football practice is not surprising to those who understand the special role of athletics at Carolina.

The Chancellor is keenly aware of this role.

"At the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, we will continue to strive for excellence in our Athletic Department as we will in all other departments," the Chancellor says.

He feels that the Athletic Department is an important part of the total University and expresses a hope that all students will make use of what it offers, either as participants or spectators.

Now in his seventh year as chancellor, Dr. Taylor assumed the position on February 1, 1972, succeeding J. Carlyle Sitterson who had served in the post for six years. Dr. Taylor is the fifth chancellor in the University's history.

Immediately prior to being named chancellor, Dr. Taylor served for two years as vice president for administration for the Consolidated University of North Carolina system. He was a unanimous choice of the Board of Trustees to become the new chancellor of the Chapel Hill campus.

A native of Oxford, N.C., Chancellor Taylor is a graduate of Carolina, receiving his A.B. degree in American history in 1942. He was the first Herbert Worth Jackson Scholar at Carolina and served as the president of Phi Beta Kappa, making straight A's for three years.

As an undergraduate, he was also president of the University Club, speaker for the Student Legislature and a member of the Order of the Golden Fleece and the Order of the Grail.

The Chancellor served as a Navy midshipman in World War II and achieved the rank of lieutenant. He served aboard destroyers in both the Atlantic and the Pacific and was awarded the Bronze Star and two commendations.

After being released from active duty, he entered Harvard Law School and received his LL.B. degree Cum Laude in 1949. While at Harvard, he was the winner of Ames Competition in moot court activities.

Selected as a Rhodes Scholar, the Chancellor entered Balliol College at Oxford University, England, following his studies at Harvard. He received a B.A. in philosophy, politics and economics from Oxford in 1951 and his M.A. in 1955.

Admitted to the North Carolina bar in 1949 and to the New York bar in 1953, Dr. Taylor was associated with the firm of Arthur, Dry and Dole in New York City from 1951 to 1958. In 1958, he became a partner in the firm of Arthur, Dry, Kalish, Taylor and Wood.

He returned to Carolina in the spring of 1968 as a visiting professor of corporate law in the UNC Law School. On July 1, 1970, he assumed his duties with the Consolidated University's General Administration in Chapel Hill. In that capacity, he served as a legal advisor and acted as a liaison between the Board of Governors and its committees.

Since assuming the duties as chancellor, Dr. Taylor has placed special emphasis on the public service aspect of the University. Many short courses, workshops and special projects have been organized, serving the entire state of North Carolina and its people, as well as the students and residents of the university community.

Most recently, Chancellor Taylor received an honorary LL.D. degree from Duke University in 1977.

Chancellor Taylor is married to the former Louise C. Ellington, also of Oxford, N.C. They have three daughters — Louise, Sarah and Martha, all students at Carolina.

Athletic Director Bill Cobey

The director of athletics at the University of North Carolina is Bill Cobey, one of the most respected young administrators in collegiate sports.

Cobey is beginning his fourth full year as Tar Heel athletic director. He assumed the position in January of 1976 after Homer Rice resigned to become athletic director and head football coach at Rice University.

The man who heads Carolina's 26-sport athletic program is a regular spectator at most Tar Heel sports events. It makes no difference whether the game is football, field hockey or soccer; if the Tar Heels are playing, Cobey is usually on the scene.

The fact he is a fan of all Carolina teams is certainly one of the big reasons his selection as athletic director was hailed by all members of the Tar Heel Athletic Department.

It was only after consulting with over 40 people connected with the Carolina athletic program that Chancellor Ferebee Taylor appointed Cobey to head the department.

"There was a clear consensus that Bill Cobey would make an outstanding director of athletics," says the Chancellor. "That consensus has certainly proven correct. He has done a great job of directing our athletic program."

Cobey has emphasized a balanced athletic program with strong teams in all sports. In each of his three years as athletic director, Carolina has won the Carmichael Cup, symbolic of overall excellence in athletics in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Before taking the Carolina job, Cobey had been interviewed by other schools for high athletic positions. He says it has long been an ambition of his to be an athletic director at a major university.

Cobey's interest in sports came quite naturally. His father was Jim Tatum's assistant athletic director at the University of Maryland. When Tatum left College Park to become the head football coach at Carolina in 1956, Cobey's father was named his successor.

Even today Cobey gives his father and Tatum credit for what he has accomplished in athletics. He also says Rice was a tremendous influence on him.

Cobey believes in staying out of the spotlight while getting his job done.

"The attention should go to our athletes and coaches," he says. "Administrators don't need to get any fanfare.

"Our goal is to carry on the great tradition Carolina has had in intercollegiate athletics. We will always work toward maintaining a strong, overall program."

Cobey is only the fourth man in history to head the Carolina Athletic Department.

Bob Fetzer was Carolina's first athletic director, serving from 1922 until 1951. He was followed by Charles P. (Chuck) Erickson who held the post until his retirement in May, 1968. Rice succeeded Erickson the following January.

Cobey is presently in his 12th year with the University. He held four posts prior to becoming athletic director.

His initial position at Carolina was as academic counselor for Bill Dooley's 1968 football team. In that capacity, he advised players on their academic work, served as a counselor for personal problems and performed various administrative duties for Dooley. Cobey continued in that position until 1971, but also added the role of assistant athletic business manager in 1969.

In 1971 Cobey was elevated to assistant athletic director for operations. He was directly responsible for the running of Kenan Stadium and Carmichael Auditorium on the days of football and basketball games. He then served in the position of assistant athletic director for promotions and finance.

Cobey was graduated from Emory University in Atlanta in 1962 with a B.A. degree in chemistry. He was a Dean's List student there and served as president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

He then received an M.B.A. degree from the Wharton School of Business at the University of Pennsylvania in 1964. After six months as an administrative assistant for Suburban Trust Company in Hyattsville, Md., he worked with Dow Chemical Company in Midland, Mich. for almost two years.

He then returned to school at the University of Pittsburgh and earned a master's degree in education in 1968. During his time at Pitt, he took part in a graduate teaching internship in physical education and was an assistant football coach in the West Mifflin Area school district.

A member of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics, Cobey has been very active in community affairs since coming to Chapel Hill. A past president of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro YMCA, he played a key role in the drive to construct a new YMCA building here. He is also a former assistant campaign chairman and board member of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro United Fund.

In addition, he is a past member of the Board of Directors of the Chapel Hill Chapter of the American Field Service; a member of the Orange County Advisory Board for Girl Scouts; a member of the Chapel Hill Advisory Board for Home Savings and Loan Association; a member of the board of directors of Happenings Inc.; 1979 chairman of the Chapel Hill District Sustaining Committee for Membership Enrollment for the Boy Scouts of America; and a member of the East Chapel Hill Rotary Club.

Cobey is married to the former Nancy Sullivan of College Park, Md. They have two children—Cathy, 13, and Billy, 7.

Head Coach Dick Crum

Dick Crum begins his second year as head football coach at the University of North Carolina with one of the best records in the college game.

Crum goes into the 1979 season with a five-year record of 39-16-1. That winning percentage of .705 is the 13th best of any active coach who has been on the major college level at least five years. That is the best winning mark in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

After posting a 34-10-1 record in four years at Miami of Ohio, Crum experienced a disappointing 5-6 first season at Carolina last fall. The problem of players adjusting to a new coaching staff and an assortment of injuries were the big reasons for that losing mark.

However, Crum has brought a team back from an off-season in the past and the odds are he will do it here. In fact, the Tar Heels showed good improvement late in the 1978 season, winning two of their last three games and dropping a narrow 13-9 decision at Clemson in the other. Carolina ended its season in dramatic fashion, rallying for two touchdowns in the last four minutes and an incredible 16-15 victory over Duke.

Crum, 45, became the Carolina football coach in January, 1978. He replaced Bill Dooley who had resigned to become athletic director and head football coach at Virginia Tech.

In announcing the selection of Crum as Dooley's replacement, Carolina Chancellor Ferebee Taylor said, "Dick Crum was the unanimous choice of our nominating committee to be the new football coach.

"Coach Crum's outstanding record at Miami University speaks for itself and we are confident that, under his leadership, our football program will continue to maintain Carolina's high standards of excellence."

Tar Heel Athletic Director Bill Cobey echoed the Chancellor's feelings.

"At Miami, Dick Crum demonstrated his ability to organize and direct a top-flight football program," said Cobey. "I don't think there is any doubt but that our football program is in very solid hands."

Crum won three Mid-American Conference championships at Miami and twice took teams to the Tangerine Bowl. The Redskins defeated Georgia, 21-10, in 1974 and South Carolina, 20-7, in 1975 in those post-season appearances.

Crum's Miami teams had records of 10-0-1 in 1974, 11-1 in 1975, 3-8 in 1976 and 10-1 in 1977.

Miami is known as the "cradle of coaches." Other former coaches at the Oxford school include Woody Hayes, Ara Parseghian, John Pont, Bo Schembechler and Bill Mallory.

Like all those men Crum was extremely successful at Miami. He was selected Ohio Coach of the Year in 1974 and 1975, MAC Coach of the Year in 1974 and District Five Coach of the Year in 1974 and 1977. His 1974 squad finished the season ranked 10th in the wire service polls, the highest rating of any team in MAC history.

In Crum's only losing season at Miami, the Redskins lost nine of their 11 starting defensive players in the first two games. After an 0-6 start, however, Crum rallied his team to three wins in its final five games. The Redskins then capped that comeback by going 10-1 in 1977, coming from behind eight times to win.

Carolina fans are hoping Crum can do something similar in Chapel Hill. He seemed to start the turnaround at mid-season last fall.

After four games Carolina was last in the ACC in total offense. At that point Crum shifted out of the split-back veer and began running more I-formation plays. The change paid big dividends. The Tar Heels finished the year second in the league in total offense, accumulating more yardage than any Carolina team since the record-shattering 1974 squad.

However, Crum says defense will be the key to Carolina's football success.

"I think you win championships with good defensive teams," he says. "Fundamentals are also so important in football. If you play fundamental and sound football and don't make mistakes, you're going to win a lot of games."

And Crum plans to win games at Carolina. Those who have gotten to know him in his short time here have no doubt about that.

"Given a little time, Coach Crum is going to have one of the best programs in the country here," says one of his former players. "The thing I like about him is he's a player's coach. The players come first to him. He's really interested in doing anything he can for us, whether it relates to football or not."

Former Tar Heel All-America halfback Don McCauley, now a member of the Baltimore Colts, agrees.

"The first time I met Dick Crum, I liked him," says McCauley. "He reminds me a lot of Ted Marchibroda, our coach with the Colts. It was very easy to talk to him. I think he's the kind of guy the players here are really going to like because his main concern seems to be their futures."

One reason for Crum's good rapport with his young players may be his 12 years of experience as a high school coach. He considers those years great preparation for his college coaching career.

A native of Youngstown, Ohio, Crum attended Boardman High School and then enrolled at Muskingum College. He later transferred to Mount Union College where he received his B.S. degree in 1957, majoring in mathematics with a minor in physics. He also holds an M.Sc. from Western Reserve.

In football, Crum was a non-scholarship halfback. He saw most of his action with the B team and it was there he learned of the great importance of fundamentals.

The first six years of his coaching career were spent as an assistant at Boardman High, Sandusky High and Warren Harding High, all in Ohio.

Crum accepted his first head football coaching position in 1963 at Mentor High School in Mentor, Ohio. He compiled a six-year record of 50-9-1, winning three league championships. His record in his last four seasons there was 38-2.

He was appointed defensive coordinator in 1970 and held that position until he succeeded Mallory as head coach in 1974. While he was defensive coordinator his teams ranked third, fifth, sixth and first in the nation in total defense. The Redskins also topped the nation in rushing defense in 1973.

Twice Crum was selected to serve as a head coach in the Ohio Shrine Bowl Game. He has also been on coaching staffs in the All-America Bowl and the Coaches' All-America Game. He has served on several committees of the American Football Coaches Association.

While at Miami, Crum had been considered for other head coaching jobs. However, he had always asked that his name be withdrawn from consideration.

"I had been interviewed at other schools," he says, "but I always left those meetings with very mixed feelings and emotions. After I interviewed at Carolina, I had no such qualms. On the plane ride back to Ohio I told my wife, 'If they offer me the job, I'm going to accept.'

"The thing that influenced me more than anything else is the fact Carolina is an excellent academic institution as well as a home of great athletics."

In his spare time Crum enjoys fishing and the outdoors in general. Each summer his family takes a two-to-four week fishing trip to Canada. Their vacation spot is in an area just north of North Bay.

Crum is married to the former Shirley Moncur of Delaware, Ohio. She is an Ohio University graduate with degrees in physical education and library science. They have three sons — Mike, 16, and twins, Jeff and Joel, 14.

Assistant Coaches

Cleve Bryant — Quarterbacks

Cleve Bryant, a star quarterback in his playing days, again will coach the Tar Heel quarterbacks in 1979.

A 1970 graduate of Ohio University, Bryant guided the Bobcats to back-to-back Mid-American Conference championships in 1967 and 1968. He was selected the MAC's Offensive Player of the Year in 1968.

After graduation, Bryant was drafted by the Denver Broncos of the National Football League. He then spent five years in business before joining Dick Crum's Miami staff in 1977. He came to Carolina with Crum for the 1978 season.

A native of Canton, Ohio, Bryant was inducted into the Ohio University Athletic Hall of Fame in 1975.

Bryant and his wife, Jean, have a son, Rodney.

Jack Himebauch — Receivers

Jack Himebauch, who coached the Carolina defensive interior last fall, will work with the offensive receivers this season.

A native of Rocky River, Ohio, Himebauch was a star receiver in his own playing days at Miami University. He eamed three letters as a tight end there under John Pont and Bo Schembechler. He led the Redskins in receptions in both 1963 and 1964. Himebauch had a career total of 43 catches for 614 yards and six touchdowns.

After graduating in 1965, Himebauch was an assistant coach for Dick Crum at Mentor High School for four years. He then spent six years as head football coach at Darien High School in Connecticut.

Himebauch was an assistant coach at Fordham University in 1976 before returning to Miami in 1977. He coached the tight ends and offensive tackles for the Redskins. He worked with the defensive tackles and nose guards at Carolina last fall before shifting back to the offensive staff last winter. Himebauch also serves as director of Crum's summer football camp for youngsters.

Denny Marcin — Defensive Coordinator and Linebackers

In addition to coordinating the entire defense, Marcin also will work specifically with the Tar Heel linebackers.

A native of Cleveland, Ohio, Marcin was a two-way guard at Miami University in his playing days. He received all-conference honorable mention his senior year.

After graduating in 1964, he served as an assistant football coach at Lakewood St. Edward High School for eight years. He then was head coach there for two seasons and had an overall record of 17-2-1. He also was baseball coach for eight years.

Marcin retumed to Miami in 1974 to coach the offensive guards and centers. He was named the Redskins' defensive coordinator in 1977 and assumed that same position when he joined Dick Crum at Carolina last year.

In addition to football, Marcin also enjoys wrestling and has officiated on the high school, college and professional level.

He and his wife, Betsy, have four children — Jeff, Denny, Melinda and Susie.

Larry Marmie — Defensive Backs

A native of Bamesville, Ohio, Marmie has 11 years of college coaching experience. He came to Carolina last March from the University of Tulsa where he had been defensive coordinator for two seasons.

Tulsa, which was 3-8 in 1977, improved its record to 9-2 last fall and Marmie's defense was a big reason for that. Two of his players were Associated Press second-team All-Americas.

In his own playing days Marmie was a quarterback at Eastern Kentucky from 1962 to 1965. As a senior he was a squad co-captain and also was named the team's most valuable player.

He began his coaching career in 1966 as head coach of Berea High School in Kentucky. He spent two years there. He was then an assistant coach at Morehead State for three seasons and an assistant at Eastern Kentucky for four years before joining the Tulsa staff.

Assistant Coaches

John Matsko — Offensive Coordinator and Offensive Line

The man who will coordinate the Carolina offense is John Matsko, who has learned his trade from two of the finest coaches in college football.

Matsko played and coached for Don James at Kent State and is beginning his fifth year as an assistant to Dick Crum. James, of course, took Washington to the Rose Bowl just two years ago and Crum is one of the nation's most successful coaches.

Matsko started at fullback for the Golden Flashes in 1972 when Kent State won the Mid-American Conference championship and went to the Tangerine Bowl. He then coached there for one year as a student assistant.

He then spent two seasons as a graduate assistant under Crum at Miami University. He coached at Danbury High for one year, compiling a 6-3 record and winning the Mid-Ohio Conference championship, before returning to Miami in 1977.

In addition to being offensive coordinator, Matsko also will coach the Tar Heel offensive line.

A native of Mentor, Ohio, Matsko played for Crum in high school. John and his wife, Kim, have a daughter, Marie, and a son, John.

Chuck Priefer — Defensive Line

Chuck Priefer, who coached the Carolina secondary last fall, will work with the defensive tackles and nose guards this season.

A 1963 graduate of John Carroll University, Priefer coached these positions in 1977 at Miami University when the Redskins were 10-1. That was his first year of collegiate coaching. He was switched back to the defensive front when Larry Marmie joined the Carolina staff last winter.

Priefer, a native of Parma, Ohio, started his coaching career as an assistant in football, basketball and baseball at Padua Franciscan High School in 1963. He became head baseball coach in 1965 and assistant athletic director in 1966. His eight-year baseball record was 151-59.

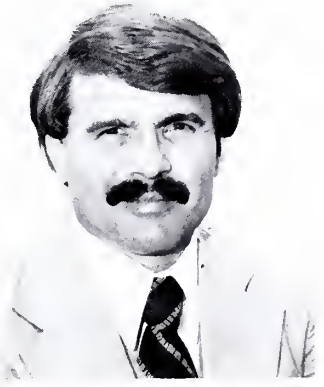
Jim Tressler — Outside Linebackers



Jim Tressler, who has worked under Dick Crum for five years, will again coach the Tar Heel outside linebackers this season.

A native of Steubenville, Ohio, Tressler was a two-way guard at Muskingum College. After graduating in 1962, he went on to get his masters at Akron.

After serving as an assistant high school football coach at Sandusky and Massillon, Tressler joined the staff at Mt. Union College. He spent six years there as an assistant football coach and head wrestling coach. He then went to Miami University to work for Crum.

In his time at Oxford, Tressler coached the Redskin outside linebackers and also doubled as head wrestling coach. When he came to Chapel Hill with Crum last year he again was assigned the outside linebackers.

Tressler has a special interest in flying and hopes to get his pilot's license.

Randy Walker — Offensive Backs

Success has followed Randy Walker throughout his football career — as both a player and a coach.

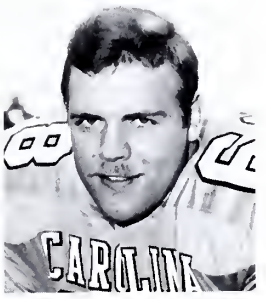
A 1976 Miami graduate, Walker played on Redskin teams which compiled a 32-1-1 record. His teams won three straight Mid-American Conference championships and three consecutive Tangerine Bowl titles.

He finished his playing career as the sixth-leading rusher in Miami history with 1,757 yards. He was selected the team's most valuable player in his senior year after playing tailback, fullback and wingback at different times during the season.

A native of Troy, Ohio, Walker was drafted by the Cincinnati Bengals after graduation. He worked at Miami as a graduate assistant in 1976 and became a full-time staff member in 1977 as the Redskins went 10-1. He joined Dick Crum at Carolina in January of last year.

Walker and his wife, Tammy, have a special interest in music. They have a newly-born daughter, Abby.

The Tar Heels

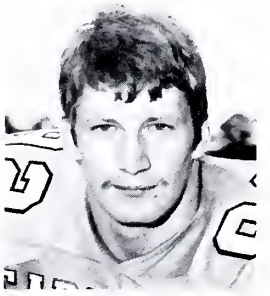


95 MIKE ARGO
Defensive Tackle
6-2, 235, Junior
Alexandria, Va.

Broke an arm in pre-season practice and did not play at all last year . . . Broke the same arm in January and missed all of the spring work . . . That injury makes him a big question mark for the upcoming season . . . Coaches are hoping he can come back from his injury to provide much-needed depth along the defensive front . . . Doesn't have the size of other tackles, but makes up for that with excellent techniques . . . Played on the junior varsity as a freshman and then was All-America Dee Hardison's backup in 1977 . . . Was also used in goal line situations that year . . . Interested in art . . . Good cartoonist . . . Enjoys ice-skating and all water sports . . . The son of a retired army officer, Mike was born in Italy . . . An all-state tackle at Fort Hunt High . . . Majoring in education . . . Would like to be a naval pilot.

11 RICKY BARDEN
Defensive Back
5-9, 178, Senior
Norfolk, Va.

One of the great players in college football . . . Rated by many the finest defensive back in Carolina history . . . This young man doesn't just make plays, he creates them . . . Has started at cornerback for the last two years . . . Second-team sophomore All-America in 1977 . . . All-ACC last season and honorable mention All-America . . . Shifted to strong safety at the conclusion of spring practice . . . Coaches want to get him in the middle of the field more often to take better advantage of his remarkable skills . . . The team's most physical defensive back . . . Doesn't have tremendous size, but is powerfully built . . . Has great quickness and fine upper body strength . . . Tough and hard-hitting . . . Has all the physical tools, but his biggest asset may be his savvy . . . Has a lot of instinct in the secondary . . . Breaks to the ball extremely well . . . Opposing passers rarely throw in his direction . . . Still had four interceptions last year, third highest total in ACC . . . That gives him seven for his career . . . Has a good understanding of the game . . . A superb athlete with a super attitude . . . A fierce competitor and a leader in the truest sense of the term . . . In addition to playing the pass, he is also excellent at giving support against the run . . . Turned in an incredible performance in a 13-9 loss at Clemson with six solo tackles and eight assists . . . When he wasn't making tackles, he was cutting down interference and allowing a teammate to make the hit . . . Against Duke he had seven tackles and two assists, caused a fumble, knocked down one pass and made two touchdown-saving tackles . . . Deflected three passes against Virginia and set up Carolina's first touchdown with a 33-yard interception return . . . Had two interceptions at South Carolina and one tackle for a loss . . . Other interception was at Wake Forest . . . Made seven solo tackles against N.C. State . . . Was not beaten on a long pass all year . . . It sometimes appeared he had been beaten because he has such great reactions, he was able to recover and pick up someone else's man when a mistake was made . . . Also returned punts and finished third in the ACC with a 7.0 average . . . Has started every regular-season game for the past two years . . . Missed the 1977 Liberty Bowl because of a knee injury sustained in the season finale against Duke . . . Missed spring practice in 1978 because of that, but worked in the weight room every day . . . Came back and had his brilliant junior season . . . As a sophomore, he had one of his best days against South Carolina with a 43-yard interception return, a fumble recovery and six tackles . . . Also had interceptions that year against Virginia and Maryland . . . Played mainly on the specialty teams as a freshman . . . Did see some action in the secondary and had a pass interception against Kentucky in the Peach Bowl . . . High school quarterback at Lake Taylor High . . . Played there with current teammates Amos Lawrence and Donald Lucas . . . Also played basketball and ran track . . . Enjoys tennis, basketball and backgammon . . . Favorite athletes are Neal Cozie and Mike Haynes . . . Majoring in therapeutic recreation.



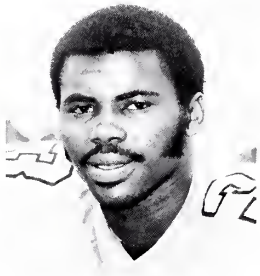
92 DANNY BARLOW
Outside Linebacker
6-1, 192, Sophomore
Moravian Falls, N.C.

Goes into the fall as a reserve at outside linebacker . . . Hard worker . . . Very coachable young man . . . Has good natural athletic ability . . . Shows promise for the future . . . Should see some action in a backup role this fall . . . Played on the junior varsity last season . . . Saw some varsity action on the kickoff coverage team . . . Did a good job there and should be a specialty team player again this year . . . Played linebacker and offensive tackle at Wilkes Central High School . . . Played in the Shrine Bowl . . . Enjoys fishing . . . Plans to major in business.

58 BOB BARNUM
Offensive Guard
6-4, 234, Sophomore
Chippewa Lake, Ohio

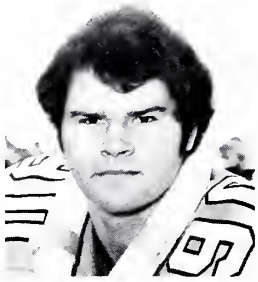
Number two right guard at the end of spring practice . . . A hard worker who has a good knowledge of the game . . . A solid technician with good feet . . . Needs to develop strength and explosiveness coming off the ball . . . Has worked a lot in the weight room to do just that . . . Member of the junior varsity last year . . . Was a two-way tackle at Cloverleaf High . . . Enjoys hunting, fishing, golf and water-skiing . . . Says his biggest thrill in sports was last season's 16-15 win over Duke . . . Athletes he most admires are track stars Mac Wilkins and Brian Oldfield . . . Plans to major in business.

3 TYRESS BRATTON
Defensive Back
5-11¾, 183, Junior
Thomasville, N.C.



Had an excellent spring . . . Set as a starter at the open-side cornerback . . . Has good size and moves well . . . A hard worker who enjoys the game . . . Made good progress and gained confidence during the off-season work . . . Just needs game experience to be a quality defensive back . . . Was injured early last season . . . Came back to play on some of the specialty teams at the end of the year . . . Played mainly on the specialty teams as a freshman although he did see some action at safety . . . Had an interception that year at Northwestern . . . A linebacker at Thomasville High . . . Was student body president there as a senior . . . Also ran track (high hurdles) and played basketball . . . Likes all outdoor sports . . . Favorite athlete is Muhammed Ali . . . Majoring in industrial relations.

90 JOHN BRUGOS
Defensive Tackle
6-1½, 227, Junior
Blackstone, Va.



Started six games last fall before being injured in the Richmond game . . . Had opened the season as a reserve but was pushed into a starting role when an injury sidelined Bunn Rhames . . . Ended the spring behind Bruce Porcher at one tackle, but is expected to push him for the starting job in the fall . . . Capable of being a fine tackle . . . Doesn't have great size, but is very quick and has a lot of savvy . . . Needs to add some weight and strength . . . Has dedicated himself to doing that . . . Hard worker in the weight room . . . A tough, but quality person . . . Saw only limited varsity action as a freshman . . . All-district tackle in football and first baseman in baseball at Nottoway High . . . Athlete he most admires is Jack Lambert . . . Biggest thrill in sports was winning the 1977 ACC championship and playing in the Liberty Bowl . . . His teammates call him The Ghost . . . Majoring in recreation.

37 ALAN BURRUS
Defensive Back
5-9½, 188,
Sophomore
Shelby, N.C.

Could be a starter at the closed-side cornerback this year . . . Played behind Ricky Barden at that spot all spring . . . When Barden was switched to strong safety, Burrus moved into a starting spot on the depth chart . . . Will certainly be challenged for that job in the fall . . . Good athlete with speed and quickness . . . Very intelligent young man with a good attitude . . . A tough competitor who needs experience . . . Was an offensive back last fall . . . Shifted to the defense in the spring and got better and better every day . . . Had never played defense until this spring . . . A star halfback at Shelby High . . . Sparked his team to a 25-0 victory in the 1976 state championship game . . . Played in the 1977 Shrine Bowl . . . Hobbies are scuba-diving, hang-gliding and sky-diving . . . Planning to major in geology . . . Would like to work on an oil rig.

88 MIKE CHATHAM
Tight End
6-1¾, 205, Junior
Elkin, N.C.

Ended the spring as a backup at tight end . . . Could see some playing time this fall . . . Capable of making outstanding catches . . . However, he lacks consistency . . . Had a two-yard touchdown catch in the Blue-White Game last spring . . . Played on the junior varsity last fall . . . Had three catches in one game against Fork Union, two of them for touchdowns . . . Beginning his third season at tight end . . . A non-scholarship player, he was a defensive back in his first season here . . . Has played jayvee basketball at Carolina . . . Enjoys duck hunting and fishing.

71 BILL CRAWFORD
Offensive Tackle
6-5, 237, Sophomore
Fairfax, Va.

Ended the spring behind Carl Hackley and Mike Marr at right tackle . . . Has the potential to be a good player, but needs more work and experience . . . Also needs to gain more confidence in himself . . . Has a good attitude and should eventually play . . . Came to Carolina as a defensive tackle, but was moved to offense last fall . . . Played on the junior varsity last season . . . An all-district lineman at W. T. Woodson High . . . Says his biggest thrill in sports was playing on the Maryland state football championship team as a freshman at Howard High . . . Hopes to major in business.

57 BUDDY CURRY
Linebacker
6-2¾, 221, Senior
Danville, Va.

A leading all-star candidate in his senior season . . . All-ACC as a sophomore . . . Was an even better player last year, but did not make the team . . . Got off to a great start last fall, but a leg injury bothered him late in the year . . . Teams with Darrell Nicholson to give Carolina one of the best pair of linebackers in the South . . . Plays to the open side of the field in the Tar Heel defensive scheme . . . Has good speed and range . . . Makes plays all over the field . . . Does an excellent job on pass coverage . . . Very intelligent player . . . Greatest attribute, however, is his consistency . . . Always gives a great effort . . . Has led Carolina in tackles for the past two years . . . Had 105 last year and 50 assists . . . Recovered three fumbles, broke up five passes, made two interceptions and had a pair of sacks . . . An excellent leader . . . Being heavily counted on as a leader this fall . . . ACC Player of the Week last season for his play against Wake Forest . . . Had 15 tackles in that game (including one sack), deflected two passes, recovered a fumble and had a 29-yard interception return . . . Made 16 tackles and assisted on five others in brilliant performance against Duke . . . Had nine tackles, six assists and an interception against Miami . . . Was super at South Carolina with 14 tackles and five assists . . . Now has seven career interceptions, including a 31-yard return for a touchdown at N.C. State in 1977 . . . Picked off three of those passes in his outstanding sophomore year . . . In addition to the one at State, he also had steals against Maryland and Duke . . . ACC Player of the Week for his play at Maryland that season . . . In addition to the interception, he stopped George Scott short of a touchdown on a fourth-and-two at the Tar Heel two . . . Was selected Carolina's top defensive player in the Liberty Bowl that year where he was credited with 18 tackles, eight of them solos . . . Broke into the starting lineup late in his freshman season . . . Started the last six games that year and every game for the past two seasons . . . On the very first play of his college career from the line of scrimmage, he intercepted a pass against Northwestern . . . An excellent student in business administration . . . Made the ACC All-Academic Team last year . . . A linebacker and tight end at George Washington High . . . Athlete he most admires is his father . . . Enjoys music, dancing, swimming and tennis.

47 CALVIN DANIELS
Outside Linebacker
6-3, 225, Sophomore
Morehead City, N.C.

An outstanding young prospect . . . A good, all-around athlete . . . Has speed, size, strength and quickness . . . Just lacks experience . . . He's going to get better and better as he gains that . . . Made good progress during the spring . . . Ended the off-season work as a starter . . . Capable of playing either side, but will probably be used on the closed side of the field . . . Played tackle on the junior varsity last fall . . . Saw only limited varsity action . . . If he plays up to his capabilities, he will be one of the best young players in the ACC . . . A defensive tackle at Goldsboro High . . . Played in the East-West All-Star Game . . . Planning to major in RTVMP . . . Interested in being a TV cameraman.

14 MICKEY DANIELS

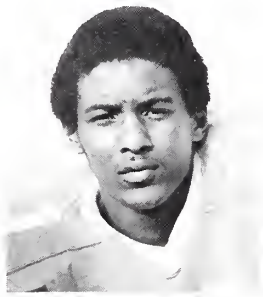
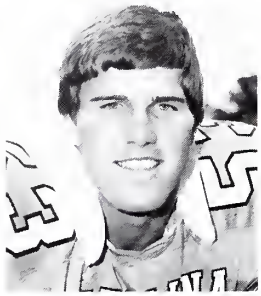
Biggest thrill in sports was the 1977 Liberty Bowl . . . A recreation major.



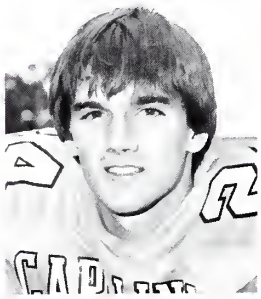
21 CHARLIE HAMPTON
Defensive Back
6-0½, 182,
Sophomore
London, Ohio

Will line up as the number one free safety when fall practice begins . . . Should get a good fight for that job from Steve Streater, who missed the spring workouts . . . Has the ability to start . . . Good, solid athlete . . . Fine size . . . Excellent worker . . . Has a good attitude . . . Very good against the run . . . Needs to improve his overall pass defense . . . Also needs to be a little more physical on the field . . . Lack of experience is his biggest drawback . . . Could also be used on the specialty teams . . . Saw some action there last year . . . A fine runningback at London High.



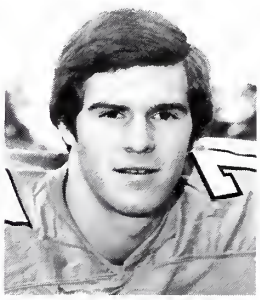
53 JIMBO HARRELL
Linebacker
5-11½, 198,
Sophomore
Burgaw, N.C.

Although he works with the linebackers, Jimbo's main job is that of the deep snapper in kicking situations . . . Handled most of the long snaps last year . . . Was near-perfect in that role . . . Very coachable . . . Quality person who is well-liked by all his teammates . . . Had some nagging injuries last spring, but didn't let them get him down . . . An excellent student in business administration . . . Interested in law school . . . Fullback and linebacker at Pender High . . . Played in the North-South All-Star Game . . . Likes sailing and water-skiing . . . Athlete he most admires is teammate Buddy Curry . . . Biggest thrill in sports has been being a part of the Carolina football team.



23 BEN HARRINGTON
Wide Receiver
6-0¼, 164,
Sophomore
Raleigh, N.C.

A walk-on who played on the junior varsity last year . . . Lacks experience, but is a hard worker . . . Hustles all the time on the field . . . Had a 39-yard TD catch against the Wake Forest jayvees . . . Enjoys art and music . . . Says his biggest thrill in sports was last year's Duke game . . . A business major.



7 JEFF HAYES

25 DOUG PASCHAL
Fullback
6-2½, 214, Senior
Greenville, N.C.

Perhaps the most under-rated back to play at Carolina in the 1970's . . . One of the best all-around players in the South . . . A top all-star candidate . . . A picture I-formation tailback, Doug will be Carolina's starting fullback because of the presence of Amos Lawrence . . . The only reason he is so unheralded is he has played on the same team with Lawrence for two years and with Mike Voight for one . . . An intense competitor and a great leader . . . He always comes to play . . . Does whatever it takes to win . . . A team player all the way . . . Tough inside runner with good speed . . . Becomes even better in short-yardage situations . . . Excellent blocker and pass receiver . . . Has a fine knowledge of the game . . . Runs with a good body lean so tacklers have very little at which to shoot . . . Has superb balance and stays on his feet well . . . Punishing runner . . . Tacklers pay the price for hitting him . . . Usually takes more than one man to bring him down . . . Not your typical fullback . . . His running ability gives Carolina an extra dimension in the backfield . . . Finished second to Lawrence in rushing last fall with 499 yards and a 4.8 yards-per-carry average . . . The team's fourth leading receiver with 17 catches, two for touchdowns . . . Had a career-high 91 yards on just nine carries against East Carolina . . . Had one 42-yard run in that game . . . Added 81 yards on 16 carries at Clemson . . . That may have been his best all-around game of the year . . . Was Carolina's leading rusher in the 1977 Liberty Bowl (77 yards) and the 1976 Peach Bowl (41 yards) . . . Split time between fullback and tailback for the last two years . . . Saw only limited backfield action as a freshman . . . Excellent speciality team player that year, however . . . Was voted Carolina's top performer in that area . . . Played on a 4-A state championship team at Greenville Rose High . . . Enjoys all water sports . . . His father is a professor at East Carolina . . . Doug is majoring in business.

81 RICK VANHOY
Tight End
6-3¾, 216, Junior
Gold Hill, N.C.

Very good receiver . . . Listed third on depth chart at tight end, but will get playing time this fall . . . His blocking needs to improve . . . A hard worker . . . Very coachable . . . Had two catches last fall, both against Maryland . . . Played fullback on the 1976 junior varsity and was shifted to tight end the following spring . . . Was red-shirted in 1977 . . . Played basketball, baseball and football at East Rowan High . . . A tailback, he played in the Shrine Bowl and the East-West Game . . . MVP in all three sports as a junior and senior . . . Scored a school record 42 points in one high school basketball game . . . Calls that his greatest thrill in sports . . . Athlete he most admires is Pete Rose . . . Education major.

8 ROCKY WHITE
Quarterback
5-11¾, 189, Sophomore
Charlotte, N.C.

Number three quarterback . . . Made a lot of improvement in the spring . . . Did not get as much work as the coaches would have liked, but worked hard when he was in action . . . Has good field savvy . . . Gutsy . . . Not afraid to run with the football . . . Jayvee quarterback last fall . . . Completed 20 of 30 passes for 171 yards and three touchdowns against Fork Union . . . Threw four touchdown passes in the fourth quarter to spark a 39-26 come-from-behind win over Ferrum . . . His father was his coach at Olympic High . . . Played quarterback and safety there . . . Lettered three years in football, basketball and baseball . . . Played in the Shrine Bowl and the East-West Game . . . Enjoys working with kids . . . Majoring in elementary education . . . Would like to be a club golf pro.

78 RON WOOTEN
Offensive Guard
6-4¼, 254, Junior
Kinston, N.C.

One of Carolina's top all-star candidates . . . A superior blocker at left guard . . . Teams with Steve Junkmann to form an outstanding combination on the left side of the line . . . Has everything it takes to be an All-America—strength, speed, size, quickness and intelligence . . . Plus, he works hard on and off the field . . . Practices to his potential . . . Comes to practice early and leaves late, trying to improve . . . A great example for the other players . . . Already a team leader . . . Very coachable . . . Broke into the starting lineup against Miami and started every game after that . . . By the end of the season he was one of the finest linemen in the ACC . . . Made great progress in the latter part of the year . . . Continued to improve in the spring . . . Consistency is fantastic . . . Gives a solid performance every game . . . Regardless of the opponent or score, he's always giving 100 per cent . . . Very comparable to former Carolina All-America guard Ken Huff . . . May even be further along than Huff at this stage in his career . . . Calls Huff the athlete he most admires . . . One of the most likeable players on the team . . . Played strictly defense in high school . . . Was switched to offense as a freshman . . . Saw only limited action in a reserve role his freshman season . . . Was a prep All-America defensive tackle at Kinston High . . . Also wrestled there . . . Calls the 1977 Liberty Bowl his greatest thrill in sports . . . Hobby is archery . . . An excellent student . . . Majoring in chemistry . . . Wants to go to med school . . . A student-athlete in the truest sense of the term.

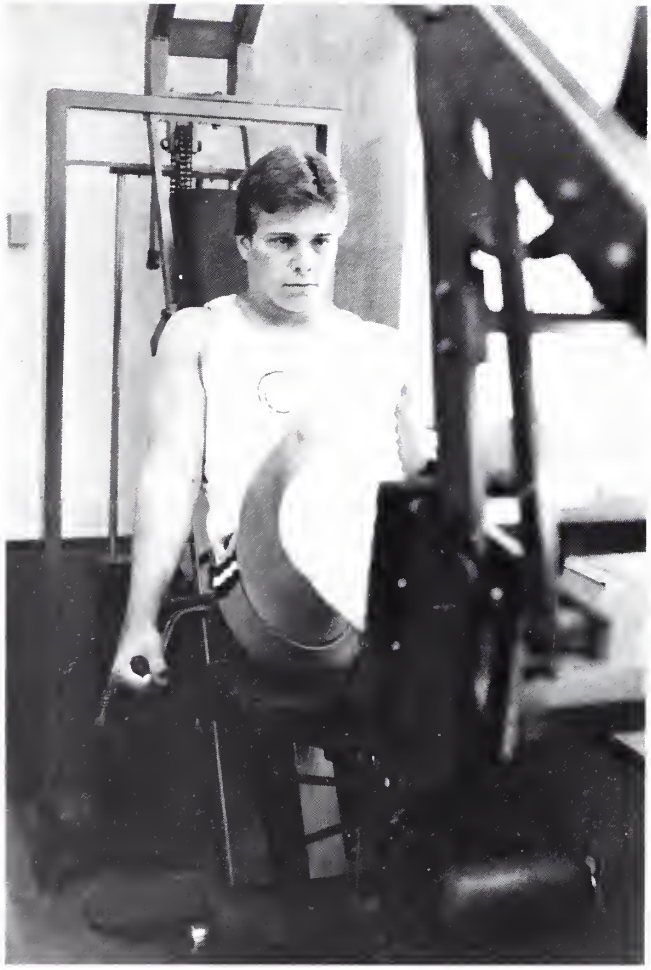
Why Tar Heels?

University of North Carolina athletic teams are known as the Tar Heels because North Carolina is "The Tar Heel State."

The nickname is said to have been applied to the area's residents as long ago as the Revolutionary War. Tar and turpentine were in abundance in the state at that time. Legend has it that British generals noticed barefooted natives with tar on their heels and first applied the soubriquet.

Others say the nickname was acquired during the Civil War. Supposedly during one particular battle the Southern forces were being routed. Only the North Carolina brigade was not being forced to retreat. Legend has it that Robert E. Lee remarked to one of his officers, "Look at those North Carolina boys. They're holding their ground like they have tar on their heels."

The 4.0 Club



Under the direction of Physical Development Director Paul Hoolahan, North Carolina has one of the most comprehensive physical fitness programs in intercollegiate athletics.

The physical fitness room at Kenan Fieldhouse is one of the most elaborate and fully equipped training facilities in the country.

"This is a total program," says Hoolahan. "We emphasize total development, pound for pound strength.

"We want to better actualize an athlete's potential by improving the basic components of strength, speed, stamina, agility, quickness and flexibility."

Because of his emphasis on total body development, Hoolahan does not rate his athletes as many physical fitness directors do.

"We do not think it is fair to say we have so many athletes who can bench press a particular weight," explains Hoolahan. "An athlete may have acquired a good technique and be able to bench press a lot, but that does not give a good indication of what the rest of his body is like.

"That is also unfair to the smaller players. In reality there is no need for a defensive back to be able to bench press 425 pounds. It would be nice if he could, but that would really be over-emphasizing that exercise for a player at that position."

So Hoolahan has come up with a new method of measuring the upper and lower body strength of football players. The athlete does a one repetition movement in the bench press and parallel squat. The totals of the best lifts are added together and divided by the athlete's body weight to get a power ratio.

"We want that total of upper and lower strength to be 3.5 times the body weight of the player," says Hoolahan. "That is the first level. The second is 4.0, followed by 4.5 and 5.0."

At the end of spring practice Carolina had six players lifting a combined total of four times their body weight. The members of the 4.0 Club are defensive back Alan Burrus, center Rick Donnalley, runningback Travis Freeman, linebacker Craig Moon, tight end Shelton Robinson and linebacker Steve Taylor.

TARHEELS

Kenan Stadium

Nestled among the tall pines near the center of the Carolina campus is Kenan Stadium — home of the Tar Heels.

It is here in this beautiful natural valley that Carolina teams have played their games for 52 years. This is where the action is — the color, the motion and the pageantry of Carolina football.

Kenan Stadium is generally referred to as one of the most beautiful football arenas in the country. Considering its majestic setting, some say it is THE most beautiful. Little can be done to enhance its natural beauty. In fact, most of the work on the stadium has been directed toward keeping up the natural setting.

William Rand Kenan, Jr. deserves the credit for making the stadium a part of the University. He was born in North Carolina in 1873 and was an 1894 Carolina graduate. The late Mr. Kenan, who died in 1966, was an international industrialist. He discovered carbide and made monumental progress in the field of chemistry.

The stadium was built as a memorial to his parents, William R. Kenan and Mary Hargrave Kenan. Construction began in November, 1926 and was completed in August of the following year. Carolina defeated Davidson, 27-0, in the first game played there, November 12, 1927.

Carolina's all-time record in Kenan is 150-97-13

As originally built, the stadium seated 24,000. However, in later years Mr. Kenan added portable stands and then an upper deck to the permanent stands bringing capacity to 48,000. Since last season work has been done in the stadium to increase that to 49,500.

Every game in the stadium was a sellout last year. In fact, every ticket was sold before the season even began.

After the 1976 season, Kenan Fieldhouse underwent a massive renovation. The building was expanded to 30,000 square feet of dressing rooms, coaches' offices, weight-training quarters, lounges, meeting rooms and other facilities.

Besides giving the stadium to the University, Mr. Kenan also sponsored and financed the famous Kenan Professorships. He was awarded the honorary degree of LL.D by his alma mater in 1944.

Six games are scheduled for Kenan Stadium this fall. The Tar Heels will play host to South Carolina, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Wake Forest, East Carolina and Clemson.

For these games, students, faculty, alumni and fans will converge on the stadium. They will enjoy football at its finest in a stadium that is magnificient.

Educational Foundation

One of the most important organizations in the Carolina Athletic Department is the University's Educational Foundation.

It is the Educational Foundation which makes possible all athletic scholarships awarded by Carolina.

As the Tar Heel sports program has grown through the years, the Foundation has done likewise. It is the enthusiasm and generosity of Foundation members which allows Carolina to field its excellent athletic teams.

"Interest reaches a new peak every year," says Ernie Williamson, the Foundation's executive vice-president. "There are many reasons for this, but the most important has been our great success in all sports the last few years."

The Educational Foundation currently has over 3,600 members who finance a scholarship program that costs over $900,000 a year.

"Since its inauguration in 1938, the Foundation has provided scholarships, either partial or full, for over 2,500 student-athletes," says Williamson. "The majority of these athletes are anxious to return contributions which would enable us to award scholarships to others."

Williamson always has contended that a donation to the Foundation is not specifically a donation to athletics. He says the high caliber young athlete who is awarded a scholarship is a great representative of the University.

Williamson feels the overall bonus is in helping a worthy young student obtain a college education. Athletics come second.

Any donation to the Educational Foundation is welcome. However, membership in the Rams Club is restricted to those who contribute $100 or more.

Carolina was one of the first schools in the nation to set up an endowment program for athletics. This program was started in 1968 and has been quite successful.

"We have life members of $10,000 and $25,000, endowed scholarships of $50,000 and have just recently enlisted 100 members who have purchased $50,000 scholarships through life insurance," says Williamson. "Several members also have indicated they have included the Foundation in their wills and bequests to enable continued success in the future."

A special room on the south wing of Kenan Fieldhouse serves as a meeting place for Rams and their families. This area is open two hours before football games and provides a lounge and picnic facilities for those who come early.

"A Foundation membership is a badge of prestige and loyalty to the University," points out Williamson. "Many of our finest members did not attend Carolina, however. They simply heard about our program and felt it was worthy."

The Foundation was organized in December of 1938. Three loyal and athletic-minded Carolina alumni met in the office of Secretary of State Thad Eure in Raleigh to formulize the plans.

The men were John Umstead, Jr. of Chapel Hill, Max Abernethy of Raleigh and Benton Stacy of Reidsville.

A charter was drawn with these three men as the incorporators and submitted to O. Max Gardner, who had his law firm clear it with the Internal Revenue Department as a charitable organization. The charter was issued December 7, 1938.

The purpose of the Foundation is to raise funds for providing scholarships or grants-in-aid at the University to worthy and qualified high school students with athletic ability. However, money can also be used for capital improvements.

The Foundation operates on a dignified and realistic plane in compliance with all of the regulations of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Atlantic Coast Conference.

It has the blessings and good will of all the University administration and, in its unique field, occupies a status similar to that of the Business Foundation, the Medical Foundation and other money-raising organizations working for the benefit of the University.

Ernie Williamson

The man who stands at the helm of the Educational Foundation is popular and capable Ernie Williamson, the executive vice-president.

The former star Carolina tackle is one of the most active individuals on the Tar Heel sports scene. He is constantly on the go — talking with Foundation members, speaking to prospective members or avidly following all of Carolina's athletic teams.

Williamson is a Carolina graduate with A.B. and M.A. degrees. The native of Crewe, Va., played one season of football here under Carl Snavely and was regarded as an outstanding tackle.

He was lured away to professional football and played with New York and Washington before a knee injury ended his career.

Williamson returned to Chapel Hill to finish work on his degrees and then went to the Univesity of the South at Sewanee, Tenn. He was an assistant coach there for two years and head coach for three seasons.

He returned to Carolina in 1957 to accept his present position. At one time he also served as a recruiter for the football program.

He is married to the former Elva Smith of Lawrenceville, Va. They have a son, Wayne, and a daughter, Carole.

The

CHARLIE CARR

Recruiting Coordinator

Charlie Carr, who has 10 years of coaching experience behind him, is beginning his first fall as recruiting coordinator for the Tar Heel athletic department.

In his new job Carr will coordinate all of Carolina's football recruiting and will also be available to assist the University's other sports programs in their recruiting.

A native of Virginia Beach, Va., Carr coached the Tar Heel offensive tackles and tight ends last fall. Prior to that, he had been a graduate assistant at Carolina in 1968 and 1969, had served as a full-time staff member here for five seasons and then had coached the offensive line for two years at Rice University.

In his playing days Carr was a star end on Carolina teams in 1965, 1966 and 1967. He set an all-time school and Atlantic Coast Conference record in 1966 by catching 16 passes in one game against the Air Force. He had 52 receptions that year, tying Art Weiner's school record.

Carr was a three-sport star at Princess Anne High School in Virginia Beach. He was an outstanding baseball player at Carolina, leading the ACC in batting his senior year with a .398 average. He also is a fine golfer and tennis player.

Charlie is married to the former Dee Harrington of Lumberton, N.C.

PAUL HOOLAHAN

Academic Counselor and Physical Development Director

Hoolahan, who had served as athletic fitness director here for three years, was appointed to his new position last summer. In his new role, Hoolahan will continue to supervise strength development programs for Carolina's intercollegiate teams, but will also have the responsibilities of an academic counselor.

Paul was an All-Atlantic Coast Conference tackle here in 1970. He led an offensive line that took the Tar Heels to the Peach Bowl and helped Don McCauley set an NCAA single-season rushing record.

An outstanding student, Hoolahan received a B.A. in English at Carolina and his M.A. in psychology from Columbia University.

Before returning to Chapel Hill in 1976, Hoolahan had been working as the supervisor of the Aquatics Division of Nassau County Recreation and Parks on Long Island. Simultaneously, he had served as a football coach and director of physical development at St. Francis Preparatory School.

A bachelor, Hoolahan is on the board of directors of the National Strength Coaches Association.

JOHN LACEY

Head Trainer

John Lacey, one of the most honored men in his field, heads an outstanding staff of athletic trainers at Carolina.

Lacey, beginning his 24th year in Chapel Hill, devotes all his attention to the Tar Heel football team. He has worked with 10 bowl teams, seven of them at Carolina.

One of his greatest honors came in 1972 when he was named head trainer for the United States delegation to the Olympic Games in Munich. He had served as trainer for the U.S. basketball team in the 1964 Games at Tokyo.

In 1977 he was named to the athletic trainers' section of the Citizen Savings (Helms) Hall of Fame.

A native of Wallingford, Conn., Lacey studied at the Yale University Department of Physical Therapy and at the Tilton School in Tilton, N.H. He came to Carolina from Maryland when the late Jim Tatum was named football coach here in 1956. While at Maryland he had served teams which won national championships in football and lacrosse.

He was also trainer of the 1957 Carolina basketball team which won the NCAA title. His background includes stints with three professional football teams — the Chicago Rockets, New York Yankees and Baltimore Colts.

Lacey is married to the former Barbara Koch of Wallingford.

DR. BEN WILCOX

Chairman of Faculty Committee on Athletics

Chief of the division of cardiothoracic surgery and a full-time professor in the North Carolina School of Medicine, Dr. Ben Wilcox begins his fourth year of chairing the Faculty Committee on Athletics and the Athletic Council.

Wilcox first came to the University as an undergraduate student in 1949. After receiving a B.A. in history in 1953, he entered the North Carolina School of Medicine and was graduated in 1957. Following a series of residencies at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis, Mo.; the National Heart Institute in Bethesda, Md.; and the North Carolina Memorial Hospital, Wilcox began his teaching responsibilities at North Carolina in 1963. He attained the title of full professor in 1971.

A member of several professional societies, Wilcox also serves on the Central Selection Committee of the Morehead Foundation.

MOYER SMITH

Associate Athletic Director

As associate athletic director, Moyer Smith administers Carolina's athletic grant-in-aid program and coordinates the admission of student-athletes, assists with the implementation of planning and construction for new facilities, supervises the athletic department's various summer sports camps and plays a major role in interpreting NCAA and ACC rules and regulations.

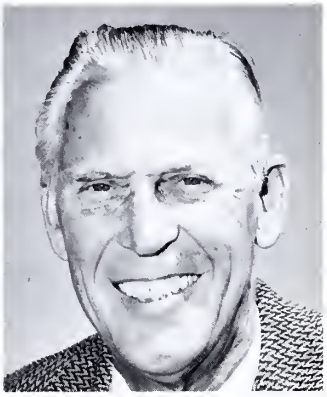
Smith, who served as an assistant football coach at Carolina for six years, also mans the position of field secretary for the Educational Foundation and is heavily involved with fundraising.

A native of Lexington, N.C., Smith earned three letters as a halfback on the 1958, '59 and '60 Carolina football teams. As an undergraduate he majored in political science and history. He served as president of his graduating class and received his degree in 1961. He earned a master's degree from the University in 1965.

Smith, who coached on the high school level for six years, was an assistant football coach at Florida State before returning to his alma mater as an athletic administrator in 1974.

Smith serves as a member of the Chapel Hill Kiwanis Club Board of Directors, the Chapel Hill Recreation Commission and the University Traffic and Parking Committee. A member of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, Smith is a present faculty advisor to the Carolina chapter and serves as president of the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity House Corporation.

He and his wife Jane have two sons — Moyer, Jr., 16, and Brenton, 14.



JOE HILTON

Assistant Athletic Director for Operations

Joe Hilton, an integral part of the North Carolina athletic scene for the past 33 years, supervises general game-day happenings, parking and concessions as assistant athletic director for operations. He also handles special events held on Carolina's athletic facilities.

Born in High Point, N.C., Hilton has served as the Tar Heels' head track coach since 1963.

Hilton first came to the Chapel Hill campus in 1935 as a student-athlete. Although he competed in basketball and football on the varsity level, track was his forte. A versatile performer, Hilton participated in the javelin, hurdles, broad jump, high jump and pole vault. The 17th-year coach, who ran on the first shuttle hurdle relay to represent North Carolina at the Penn Relays, established several school marks in the javelin as a collegian.

Following his 1940 graduation from Carolina, Hilton coached at Goldsboro (N.C.) High School for two years before entering the Navy for service in World War II. After the war he returned to North Carolina and earned his master's degree in physical education in 1948. He was named assistant track coach to Dale Ranson in 1952 and was elevated to head track coach 11 years later.

Hilton and his wife Gin have three children — Truman, a graduate of East Carolina; Libby, a Carolina graduate; and Reid, also a UNC graduate.

JOHN SWOFFORD

Assistant Athletic Director and Assistant Executive Vice-President of the Educational Foundation, Inc.

As assistant athletic director and assistant executive vice-president of the Educational Foundation, John Swofford performs a variety of duties for the North Carolina athletic department. He oversees the financial structure of the athletic program and supervises the business, ticket and game operations departments as well as the scheduling for men's non-revenue sports. He also is involved with Educational Foundation office procedures, membership services and fundraising.

Prior to assuming his present duties last January, Swofford served as assistant athletic director and business manager for two and one-half years.

A three-year letterman as a Tar Heel quarterback and defensive back, Swofford, recipient of a Morehead Scholarship, first came to Carolina as an undergraduate in 1967. The North Wilkesboro, N.C., native was a member of the 1970 Peach Bowl and 1971 Gator Bowl squads. Swofford earned his A.B. in psychology and industrial relations in 1971.

After receiving a master's degree in athletic administration from Ohio University in 1973, Swofford worked for three years as athletic ticket manager and assistant director of athletic facilities and finance at the University of Virginia.

Swofford is a member of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics, the College Athletic Business Managers Association, the Board of Directors of the Ohio University Athletic Administration Program and the East Chapel Hill Rotary Club.

He and his wife Becky have a daughter Autumn, 2, and are expecting their second child in September.

BOB SAVOD

Assistant Athletic Director for Promotions

Bob Savod joined the North Carolina athletic staff three years ago as assistant athletic director for promotions. His position involves him in such diverse areas as ticket promotions, advertising sales, program sales and general promotions. In addition, he coordinates the Carolina football and basketball coaches' television programs and negotiates radio contracts.

Savod, who also produces the pre-game and half-time presentations for football and basketball games, manages all special events for the athletic department.

Before coming to Carolina in 1976, Savod worked as director of I.T.T. Technical Institute and Stauzenberger College of Business in Toledo, Ohio. He also has served as president and executive director of Electronic Computer Programming Institute and personnel director of Ethan Allen Furniture Corporation.

Currently coordinating and editing the text of a book written by Carolina Basketball Coach Dean Smith, Savod is a member of the Board of Directors of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro Chamber of Commerce.

He and his wife Judy have two children—Suzanne and Jason.

FRANCES HOGAN

Director of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women

Frances Hogan, a former associate professor of physical education at North Carolina, oversees the 13-sport Tar Heel women's athletic program.

Mrs. Hogan, who has been employed by the University for 25 years, has occupied a wide array of positions since first joining the staff as a physical education instructor. In addition to her teaching responsibilities, she has served as an advisor in the General College and as an advisor to undergraduate women with physical education majors. Mrs. Hogan, who also has coached basketball and field hockey on the collegiate level, led the Carolina women's tennis team to more than 20 successful seasons as coach. She assumed her present title in 1974.

A native of Sumter, S.C., Mrs. Hogan received her bachelor's degree from Winthrop College and her master's from the University of Iowa. She holds membership in two honoraries, the Order of the Valkyries and Delta Kappa Gamma. She is an active member of the AIAW and the NCAIAW, and has worked on numerous athletic committees.

Mrs. Hogan and her husband George have two children—Alwin and Mrs. Frances Daniel.

BETH MILLER

Athletic Business Manager

Beth Miller, now in her fifth year of service to the University, was elevated to the post of athletic business manager last spring. She supervises the department's funds and budgets along with miscellaneous administrative duties and projects. Miller also doubles as the Tar Heels' volleyball coach.

A native of Landis, N.C., Miller joined the Carolina athletic department in 1974 as an assistant basketball and volleyball coach. She took over the volleyball reins full time in 1975. Her Tar Heel squads have competed in the AIAW National Championships twice in four years. She was selected to coach the West squad in the 1978 North Carolina Collegiate Volleyball All-Star Classic. Miller also guided the 1979 Tar Heel softball team.

Prior to her arrival in Chapel Hill, Miller served as head volleyball and basketball coach at her alma mater, Appalachian State. She received her B.S. in physical education in 1968 and a master's degree in the same field the following year.

A former instructor in the North Carolina physical education department, Miller was granted a doctor of the arts degree from Middle Tennessee State in 1974.

DEVON BROUSE

Superintendent of Athletic Facilities

Devon Brouse enters his seventh season as superintendent of athletic facilities at North Carolina. Brouse's responsibilities include overseeing and maintaining the Tar Heels' vast complex of athletic properties. In addition, Brouse serves as golf director and men's golf coach.

A native of Indianapolis, Ind., Brouse has guided the Tar Heel golfers to top 10 finishes at the last two NCAA tournaments.

Brouse joined the Carolina staff seven years ago after serving a two-year tenure as assistant director for municipal golf courses in Indianapolis. He aided former Carolina Coach Mike McLeod as an assistant for one season before assuming the head coaching reins in 1978.

An apprentice member of the PGA, Brouse earned his bachelor of science degree in agronomy from Purdue University in 1971. He majored in turf management in Purdue's highly-regarded School of Agronomy.

Brouse and his wife Kathy have two sons — Matthew and Brent.

RICK BREWER

Sports Information Director

Rick Brewer is beginning his 12th year in the Carolina Sports Information Office and his fifth as its director.

A native of Winston-Salem, N.C., Brewer is a 1971 Carolina graduate with a B.A. in journalism.

He served as a student assistant in the sports information office for three years and was named the school's first assistant SID upon graduation. He held that position for four years and then was named sports information director in 1975.

In his four years as SID, Brewer has won awards from CoSIDA (College Sports Information Directors of America) for his football brochure, football game program, basketball brochure, basketball game program, tennis brochure, golf brochure and a recruiting brochure for women.

He is a member of CoSIDA, the U.S. Basketball Writers Association, the Football Writers Association of America and the Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Association. He is a member of the ACSWA's executive committee.

Brewer is a bachelor.

JEAN KELLER

Ticket Manager

Jean Keller, a member of the North Carolina athletic staff since 1947, handles the unenviable task of locating seats for the never-ending demand for tickets to Carolina basketball and football games. Mrs. Keller manages the ticket office staff and oversees the distribution of thousands of tickets.

A graduate of Duke, Mrs. Keller worked at her alma mater for a year before switching her allegiances to Carolina.

Mrs. Keller and her husband John, supervisor of athletic equipment and events, have two daughters—Fran and Barbara.

JOHN "SARGE" KELLER

Supervisor of Athletic Equipment and Events

John "Sarge" Keller has been a friendly fixture on the North Carolina athletic scene since 1945.

As supervisor of athletic equipment and events, Keller oversees the maintenance, distribution and purchase of all items used by Tar Heel athletes during practice and competition. He also handles security and general building operations during Carolina athletic events and special programs held in athletic facilities.

Born in Ft. Knox, Ky., Keller has called Chapel Hill home since his youth. During World War II, he served as a member of the air corps stationed in North Africa. He returned home and began his long association with the University.

1979 OUTLOOK

Pittsburgh, which posted an 8-4 record last fall, should field one of the top teams in the country in 1979. The Panthers, under the direction of third-year Coach Jackie Sherrill, return 44 lettermen, including 13 starters. All-America defensive end Hugh Green, a pre-season pick for all-star honors, spearheads a talented defensive unit that includes linebacker Jeff Pelusi and tackles Greg Meisner and Bill Neill. Two-year letterman Rich Trocano, who passed for over 1,600 yards in 1978, directs the offense. His prime target is receiver Ralph Still, who caught 13 passes for 149 yards last season. Rooster Jones and Fred Jacobs pace the running game. The offensive line boasts three returning starters and five backups who have earned monograms.

George Rogers

1979 OUTLOOK

With 17 starters returning from last year, South Carolina Coach Jim Carlen seems justified when he says, "I'm looking forward to this season more than any other since I've been here." The Gamecocks have nine starters back on offense and eight on defense. Heading the list of veteran players is runningback George Rogers, who rushed for 1,006 yards in 1978. He will operate behind an experienced offensive line which lost only one starter from last fall. Johnnie Wright, who gained 903 yards during 1978, teams with Rogers to give South Carolina a potent one-two running punch. Junior Garry Harper, who tossed seven TD passes last season, appears set at quarterback. The defense, generally regarded as big and quick, is anchored by tackle Steve Bernish and linebackers Tim Singleton and Scott Wade.

1979 OUTLOOK

Army football, rich in tradition and gridiron lore, sports a new look in 1979. First-year Coach Lou Saban has instituted different offensive and defensive systems to complement his rejuvenated cast of players. The Cadets lost 23 lettermen to graduation, but that same number returns to provide a strong foundation. All-America candidate and captain George Mayes lends his leadership and playing credentials to the defense. A middle guard last season, Mayes switches to defensive tackle in 1979. Other returnees include linebacker John Hilliard, who paced Army in tackles the past two seasons; halfback Jimmy Hill, the Cadets' top rusher and scorer last year as a sophomore; and offensive guard Matt Herholtz.

1979 OUTLOOK

Aided by the return of 14 starters (seven offensive, seven defensive), Cincinnati has high hopes of improving its 5-6 mark of last season. Although the quarterback slot is wide open between Tim Morris and Tony Kapetanis, who shared signal-calling duties in 1978, sophomore halfback Allen Harvin gives the Bearcats a potent threat in the backfield. He enjoyed a sensational rookie campaign, accumulating 1,283 yards rushing. Farley Bell, a 6-4, 230-pound end, and linebacker Karl Woods, Cincy's leading tackler last year, solidify the defense.

Coach John Mackovic

James McDougald

1979 OUTLOOK

Listing 34 lettermen, including 17 starters, on its 1979 roster, Wake Forest possesses more depth than it has had in years with a young, but experienced nucleus of talent. Coach John Mackovic's offensive playbook revolves around the passing game, and the Deacons have the personnel to install a potent aerial attack. Quarterback David Webber, who passed for over 1,000 yards last season as a freshman, gained competitive experience quickly and learned the collegiate ropes in 1978. His favorite targets are sophomores Mike Mullen, a 6-3, 190-pound tight end, and Wayne Baumgardner, a 6-2, 185-pound split end. Wake Forest boasts a powerful double threat on the ground in runningbacks James McDougald and Albert Kirby. The duo also is adept at catching the football. Nine starters, including last season's top five tacklers, anchor the defense.

Jim Ritcher

1979 OUTLOOK

Balance appropriately describes North Carolina State's 1979 edition. Fourth-year Coach Bo Rein welcomes back 38 lettermen, including 14 starters (seven on each side of the ball), from last season's 9-3 squad that wallopped Pitt, 30-17, in the Tangerine Bowl. Despite the absence of All-America halfback Ted Brown and linebackers Bill Cowher and Kyle Wescoe, the Wolfpack lists depth, experience and talent in the game's three major areas. Quarterback Scott Smith orchestrates the offensive show. His primary target is wide receiver Mike Quick. Billy Ray Vickers highlights the ground game. All-America center Jim Ritcher solidifies the offensive line. Other returnees include guard Chris Dieterich and defensive stalwarts Simon Gupton, tackle, and Woodrow Wilson, safety.

1979 OUTLOOK

East Carolina, Independence Bowl champion last year, boasts a potentially-explosive offense and solid defense for 1979. The Pirates, under the direction of sixth-year Coach Pat Dye, return eight starters on offense, including quarterback Leander Green, fullback Theodore Sutton and halfback Anthony Collins. Green, a definite threat to run with the ball, accounted for 12 touchdowns last fall, while Sutton led the squad in rushing for the second consecutive season. Veterans anchor the offensive line from tackle to tackle. Although only one starter (linebacker Mike Brewington) is back in the defensive line, the secondary appears set with Charlie Carter, Willie Holley, Ruffin McNeill and Wayne Perry.

Eric Sievers

1979 OUTLOOK

Replacing graduated quarterback Tim O'Hare and backfield mates Mickey Dudish and Steve Atkins is the major task facing the Maryland Terrapins in 1979. Coach Jerry Claiborne, entering his eighth fall at College Park, has junior Mike Tice and freshman Bob Milkovich primed for duty at quarterback, while George Scott, a starter in 1977 who spent last season on the sick list, figures to bolster the running attack. Tight end Eric Sievers is a top-flight receiver. Defense again rates as the Maryland forte. Guard Marlin Van Horn anchors Claiborne's wide-tackle six, while the secondary, headed by Lloyd Burruss, remains intact.

1979 OUTLOOK

In his first assignment as head football coach at Clemson, Danny Ford directed the Tigers, 1978 ACC champs, to a thrilling 17-15 victory over Ohio State in the Gator Bowl. But the rookie coach, with only one game under his head coaching cap, faces even tougher obstacles in 1979. Missing from last season's 11-1, sixth-ranked team are 15 starters, including seven first-team All-ACC picks. Ford must rebuild the Tiger offense, since quarterback Steve Fuller, the conference's player-of-the-year, and receiver Jerry Butler have taken their talents to the NFL. The offensive line also suffered heavy graduation losses, but does return Jeff Bostic and Chris Dolce at guards. Tailback Lester Brown and fullback Marvin Sims are top threats in the backfield.

1979 OUTLOOK

If Virginia hopes to improve its 2-9 mark of a year ago, the Cavaliers must develop a consistent offense and depth at all positions. Sophomore Todd Kirtley emerged as the top signal-caller in spring practice and should add new life to the Wahoo offense. Ted Marchibroda is the top receiver. Juniors Tommy Vigorito and Greg Taylor form a formidable running duo. The defense is characterized by experience. Returning starters include Stuart Anderson, Tony Blount, Bryan Holoman and Steve Potter. Coach Dick Bestwick's fourth Virginia squad will miss the services of punter Russ Henderson, an All-ACC selection who averaged 42.7 yards per kick in '78.

1979 OUTLOOK

Although youth and inexperience may beset the Blue Devils in 1979, Coach Red Wilson, who assumed the Duke coaching reins last winter, promises offensive excitement and an enthusiastic defense during the upcoming season. Wilson, who expects to use as many as 18 sophomores in the starting ranks, installed the veer offense during spring practice to accommodate a bevy of talented backs. He still must find a replacement for graduated signal-caller Mike Dunn. The defense is manned by veterans Eric Drescher at nose guard, tackle Tim Cadigan and backs Craig Hoskins and George Gawdun.

Carolina's Bowl History

Carolina has played in 10 post-season bowl games, including six in the last nine years.

Carolina's post-season trips have been to the Sugar Bowl in 1947 and 1949, the Cotton Bowl in 1950, the Gator Bowl in 1963 and 1971, the Peach Bowl in 1970 and 1976, the Sun Bowl in 1972 and 1974 and the Liberty Bowl in 1977.

The Tar Heels' bowl history started in the late Forties when Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice was running wild from the single wing. Carolina went to bowl games three times during the Justice Era, but lost all three.

Perhaps the most famous of those games was the 1947 Sugar Bowl which matched Carolina against Georgia. The Tar Heels led 7-0, but Georgia grabbed the game's momentum on a controversial play and won 20-10. The rhubarb concerned a lateral that set up the Bulldogs' first touchdown. All the Tar Heels claimed it was a forward lateral and the play should have been called back.

Carolina returned to the Sugar Bowl two years later and lost to Oklahoma, 14-6. Justice had a sensational day running and punting, however. Choo Choo was magnificent in the 1950 Cotton Bowl as well, but Rice won the game, 27-14.

The Tar Heels' next bowl appearance came in the 1963 Gator Bowl. Ken Willard was the big star as Carolina routed the Air Force Academy, 35-0.

Carolina has been to six bowl games in the last nine years. That amazing stretch started in the 1970 Peach Bowl. The Tar Heels dropped a wild 48-26 decision to unbeaten Arizona State in that game. All-America tailback Don McCauley had 143 yards rushing and three touchdowns for Carolina. But a second half snowstorm and an injury to quarterback Paul Miller helped the Sun Devils race to victory.

The 1971 Gator Bowl produced a bowl first — brothers opposing each other as coaches in bowl competition. It matched Bill Dooley of Carolina against Vince of Georgia. The game was a great defensive struggle in which the Bulldogs came from behind to win, 7-3.

Carolina's most exciting bowl game was the 1972 Sun Bowl. The Tar Heels capped an 11-1 season by defeating Texas Tech, 32-28. Quarterback Nick Vidnovic was the big star, completing 14 of 26 passes for 215 yards. He fired a 62-yard scoring strike to Ted Leverenz to help Carolina to a 24-21 halftime lead.

Tech came back to go ahead, 28-24, but Vidnovic hit Leverenz with a 13-yard scoring pass with just a minute to play to bring Carolina back. The Tar Heels then added two more points when Ronnie Robinson dropped Raider quarterback Joe Barnes for a safety.

Mike Voight and James "Boom Boom" Betterson had big days rushing in the 1974 Sun Bowl, but Mississippi State won another thriller, 26-24. The Tar Heels put on a desperation drive in the game's closing moments, but were stopped on a fourth-and-one at their own 48-yard line.

Kentucky beat Carolina, 21-0, in the 1976 Peach Bowl. The Tar Heels, playing without the injured Voight, had trouble all day against a fine Wildcat defense.

Carolina dropped a heartbreaking 21-17 decision to Nebraska in the 1977 Liberty Bowl. Sparked by quarterback Matt Kupec, the Tar Heels held a 17-7 lead going into the fourth period. However, the Cornhuskers rallied behind reserve quarterback Randy Garcia to score their come-from-behind victory.

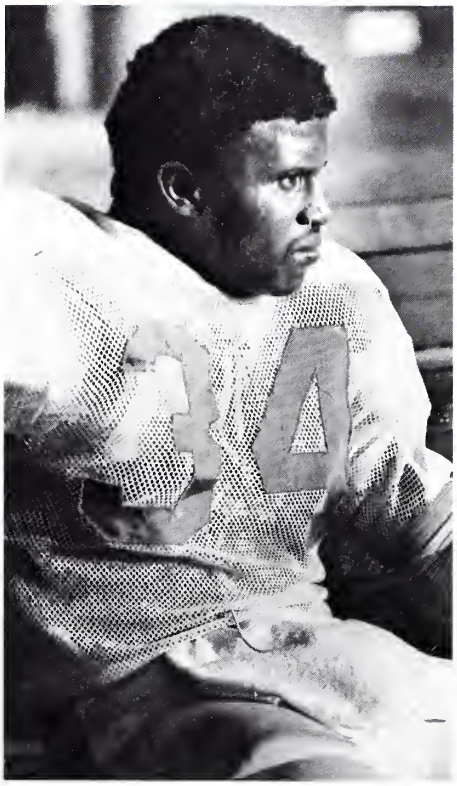
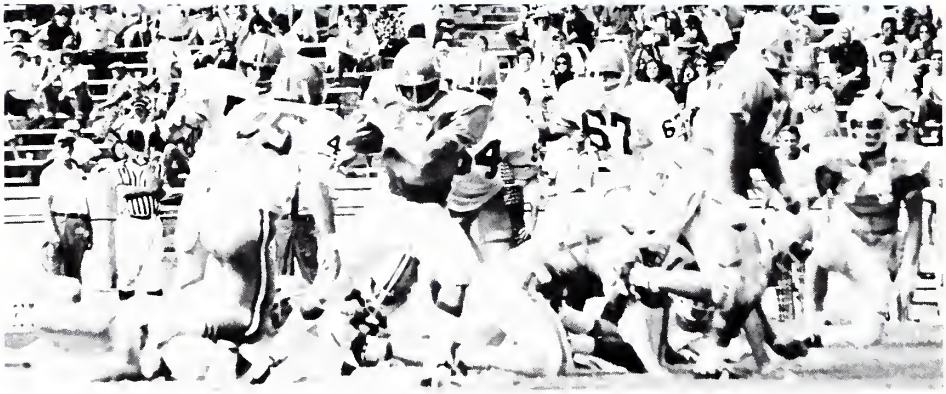
Carolina's 1,000-yard Rushers



James Betterson
1,082 yards in 1974



Sammy Johnson
1,006 yards in 1973

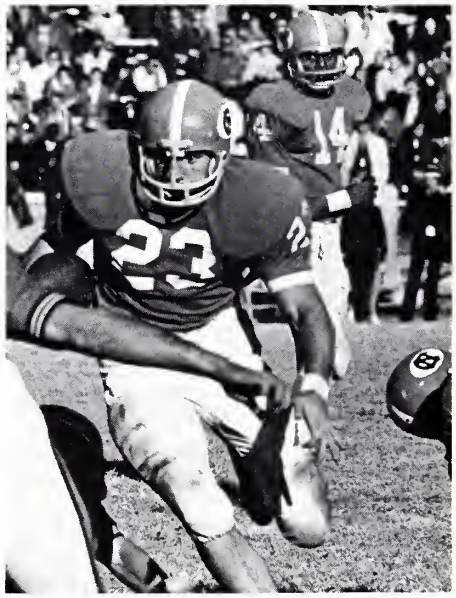
Carolina has had seven 1,000-yard rushers in the past six years. That's the most of any school in the country in that period.

Sammy Johnson reached the magic figure in 1973, Mike Voight and James Betterson in 1974, Voight again in 1975 and 1976 and Famous Amos Lawrence in 1977 and 1978.

Carolina has had nine 1,000-yard rushers in its football history. The only schools which have had more are Southern California with 11 and Oklahoma with 10.

When Betterson and Voight each ran for 1,000 in 1974, it marked only the fifth time in history that two men on the same team had accomplished that feat. It was the first time the two had played the same position.

Don McCauley set the Tar Heels' all-time single-season rushing record in 1970. He ran for 1,720 yards that year, breaking O. J. Simpson's NCAA single-season record.



Don McCauley
1,092 yards in 1969
1,720 yards in 1970

Mike Voight
1,033 yards in 1974
1,250 yards in 1975
1,407 yards in 1976

Amos Lawrence
1,211 yards in 1977
1,043 yards in 1978
